

BOUNDARY STONES IN ROMAN DALMATIA

I. THE INSCRIPTIONS

J. J. WILKES

formerly University of Birmingham, now Institute of Archaeology, London

The twenty-seven Dalmatian boundary stones, many of which record details of the circumstances in which they were set up, form an almost unique record of Roman provincial government. The majority are dated to the Julio-Claudian period while they are concentrated in the south of the province, that is the limestone and karst of the Velebit, the Ravni Kotari, and the region of Poljica. Their distribution is indicated on the general map A, and on the three section maps, B—D. In this paper it is the intention only to offer a republication of the stones, including photographs and drawings where these are available. In the second part I hope to discuss these boundary settlements, along with similar records from other provinces, in the wider context of Roman provincial government.

It is a pleasure to record my gratitude to Dr. Jaroslav Šašel, especially for his infinite patience and energy during our travels in September 1973 in order to relocate and record those of the inscriptions discussed here which survive. I should also like to record my thanks to Mr. Harry Buglass, draughtsman in the Department of Archaeology and Ancient History, University of Birmingham, for his care in drawing the figures and the maps, and to Miss J. M. Reynolds, Newnham College Cambridge, for generous advice and criticism.

1 (Pl. I, 1) Undressed limestone block with only a roughly smoothed face for the inscription. Approximately 1.00 m. high, 0.40 m. wide at the top, 0.20 m. at the bottom, and c. 0.35 m. thick. Found probably 'in situ' in the remains of a 1.00 m. high dry stone wall, an ancient boundary line above Jablanac near Stinica. Now in the town (or local) Museum at Senj.

'According to the decree of P. Cornelius Dolabella, legate of the emperor with praetorian rank (? the boundary) between the Begi and the Ortoplini'. Mentioned by D. Rendić-Miočević, *Akte IV. int. 2. (Pl. I, 2) Inscription on a natural vertical face of limestone 8.00 m. by 4.50 m. by 4.00 m. On the eastern side of the Velebit mountains between Jablanac on the coast and Kosinj gornji, in the sector Legenac of the forest ravine Lomska duliba, 27 m. from the forest road leading to Kosinj-ka Begovača and Bakovac.

3. (Fig. 1) Limestone fragment 0.36 m. high, and 0.36 m. broad, with legible letters similar to no. 6 below. Built into the east wall of the house of Bare Jokić, about 1 km. north of St. Michael's church at Popović (Corinium). No trace or record of the stone was known to the inhabitants on 10th September 1973.

4. (Pl. I, 3) Limestone fragment. In the Franciscan monastery at Karin, built into the wall of the monastery cloister immediately opposite the entrance. The removal from its former position in the threshold of the gate leading into the garden of the monastery has resulted in much less of the stone being now visible. Present measurements: 0.76 m. high and 0.36 m. wide. Height of letters: v. 2—3 6.5 cms., v. 7—8 7.0 cms, v. 96.5 cms.

5. In the vicinity of Karin near the hamlet of Lacmanović, in the middle of wooded and cleft-ridden rocky conglomerate ground. The boundary of the Nedinum territory indicated in letters 0.25 m. This suggests that in many areas the boundary was marked in the natural rock rather than by cippi.

6. (Pl. II, 4) Limestone block, 1.82 m. high (visible above ground), 0.56 m. wide, and approximately 0.17 m. deep. It now forms the left side of the south doorway of St. Michael’s Church at Popović (Corinium). There is no evidence for its original situation. The height of the letters varies from 6.0 cms in v. 1 to 4.0 cms in v. 17.

‘According to the edict of P. Cornelius Dolabella, legate with praetorian rank, Sextus Titius Geminus, princeps posterior (centurio) of legion VII, fixed (this boundary) between the Neditae and the Corinienses. (The boundary stones) were restored by order of Aulus Ducenius Geminus, legate of Augustus with praetorian rank, through Aulus Resius Maximus, princeps posterior centurio of legion XI Claudia pia fidelis, and Quintus Aebutius Liberalis, hastatus posterior centurio of the same legion.’ M. Glavinčić, BD II (1879) p. 146 cf. Fr. Bulić, BD V (1883) p. 65. O. Hirschfeld, AEM IX (1885) p. 4 f. no. 1, whence CIL III p. 1634 no. 9973 and Dessau, ILS no. 5953. M. Abramić and A. It is possible that the fragment recorded under no. 8 below is either from the same monument, or at least another record of the same settlement.

8. (Fig. 2 and Pl. II, 6) Limestone fragment 0.32 m. high, 0.46 m. wide, with letters 4.5 cms at the top decreasing in the lower lines to 3.5 cms. Built into the wall of the house of Josip Batura, in the courtyard near the pigsty, in the village of Pridraga near Karin.

9. Limestone block, broken on all sides except the right, 0.53 m. high, 0.65 m. broad, and now 0.07 to 0.09 m. thick. The surface of the upper part has been worn away. Found in modern boundary wall at the foot of the Ivanova glavica on the road from Cvijina Gradina to Asseria. The present location of the stone is not known.

M. Abramić and A. Colnago, JÖAI XII (1909) Bb. 29—31 no. 1 with fig. 5 (photograph).

v. 1: the original editors read AN?? [...], although Patsch suggested Ansi[enses] this is hardly visible on the photograph of the stone. It seems probable that they were the inhabitants of Ansum, recorded as the origo of a praetorian on a tombstone from the same area, CIL III 2887 cf. JÖAI VIII (1905) Bb. 16, and possibly the identified Roman settlement on the Cvijina Gradina, north of Karin.

10. (Fig. 3) Boundary stone found in 1903 probably ‘in situ’ amongst dressed stones in the road from Medvidje (Sidrona) to Benkovac (Asseria), about 3 km. from the former place. The stone, which is poor conglomerate limestone, stands 1.90 m. high, 0.66 m. broad, 0.20 m. thick, fractured into two pieces.

11. (Pl. II, 5) Limestone block found at Dobropoljci (probably Alveria) on a hill called Smerdeljica (Glavinić), Podgradje near Benkovac (Bulić). Now somewhere in the Archaeological Museum Split (1969).

14a-b. (Fig. 5a-b.) Limestone block broken into five fragments. 1.10 m. high, 0.60 m. wide, and 0.15 m. thick. Found October 1890 on Vedropolje hill near Uzdoľje (district of Knin) on the farm of Nikola Malić, in the Kosovo polje. Formerly with the Franciscans in Knin, now in the Archaeological Museum Split. Good standard of lettering. Below the last line is uninscribed surface.

Fr. Bulić, BD XIV (1892) p. 17 no. 12. O. Hirschfeld, CIL III p. 2167 no. 13250 (somewhat more complete in v. 2 and v. 6 than when examined by Patsch). C. Patsch, WMBH V (1897) 215 f. no. 81 fig. 80 (line drawing) cf. CIL III p. 2328¹³ add. no. 13250, cf. Dessau, ILS 5968.

Also a small fragment with four or five letters which may belong to this boundary stone, BD XIV (1892) p. 17 no. 2 cf. Patsch, op. cit. 216 fig. 81 (line drawing).

v. 1—2: p]ra[r]a is preferable to p]ra[ed]ia on grounds of space. The TA in v. 2., Schulten, Hermes XXIX p. 491, is unfounded.

The centre of the front face is dominated by a relief of Hercules 0.25 m. to 0.30 m. in depth. The figure stands holding a lion's skin in his left hand and holds in his right hand a club across his right shoulder. The edges of the inscribed surface have been damaged at the top and on the right, but it is not certain how much, if anything, has been lost from the text. The incising of the letters is very poor, and in vv. 10—14 the lines are not horizontal. The height of the letters in vv. 1—3 is 4 cms., the rest 3.5 to 3.0 cms. The v. 2 runs along the moulding panel across the top of the altar.

'Boundary stones between the Nerastini and the Pituntini, which L. Volusius Saturninus, legate with praetorian rank, had charged to be set up, reidentified and set up by Piso, legate with praetorian rank of Ti. Claudius Caesar Augustus Germanicus, through C. Marius Maternus, centurion of legion VII Claudia pia fidelis.' Fr. Bulić, BD XIII (1891) p. 145 no. 79. O. Hirschfeld, CIL III p. 2131 no. 12794, whence Dessau, ILS 5952.

For a possible boundary stone between Omiš and Makarska see Bulić, VAHD XLIX (1926—7) 67.

20. (Pl. IV, 10) Large fragment from a stone plaque broken into three fragments measuring 0.59 m. by 0.08 m. by 0.47 m. found at Šušnjar between Vrlika and Koljane (upper Cetina valley) in 1933.

'...]s Bassus (legate of Augustus with praetorian rank) ordered C. Plotius Maximus to make a judgement on the matter of the boundary line between the Barizaniates and the Lizaviates, and instructed that he should give a ruling regarding the setting up of the boundary stones.'

21. Boundary settlement inscribed on rock rising 1.10 m. above the ground surface at Kosi-jerevo on the left bank of the river Trebišnjica (district of Nikšić, in Montenegro). It lies about 300 m. upstream from the old railway station, 30 m. from the river and about 12 m. above the original water level. First discovered in 1919 and relocated during the flooding of the Trebišnjica valley for a hydro-electric project.

There are 8 lines of text, varying in length from 0.49 m. to 0.69 m., governed by the surface of the stone. Vv. 1—4 and 7 have lost their initial two or three letters. The height of the letters is approximately 8 cms. The inscription was carved by an unskilled hand.

Vesii, the supervision of the inscription being carried out by D(...) L(...), the steward.' D. Ser. gejevski, Arch. Jug. V (1964) 93—5 (without photograph or drawing).

22. A boundary settlement is inscribed on a rock near to Gacko. It consists entirely of abbreviations.

23. Boundary settlement inscribed on a rock called Blizanci at Vaganj (district of Gornji Vukuf) in the Vrbas valley near Šipovo east of Jajce, near to the river and the town Kotor.

'... appointed as judge by Flavius Valerius Constantius most distinguished citizen, governor of the province of Dalmatia, fixed the boundary between the Salvates and Stridonenses.'

Restored by G. Alačević, BD V (1883) p. 136 from the notes of Stjepan Petković of Knin (c. 1808). These were sought without success by Hirschfeld, who published the transcription of Alačević, CIL III p. 1623 no. 9860.

The unusually late date, the name Valerius for Constantius, the reference to Stridon (birthplace of St. Jerome), led many scholars to doubt its authenticity, for example Mommsen and Hirschfeld, CIL III loc. cit. See also W. Kubitschek, VHAD N.S. XV (1928) (Festschrift Brunšmid) 35—42. N. Vulić, *Zbornik filoloških i lingvističkih studija A. Not all the letters are regular. The S in v. 1 is only 10 cms. No record of the findspot. Now in the garden behind the Archaeological Museum Zadar. Therefore probably from somewhere in the Ravni Kotari.

v. 3: the C appears in the form of G; vv. 5—6: the gentilicium remains uncertain. The l(tus) Pegasus which appears in R. Syme, Danubian Papers (Bucharest 1971) 203, does not appear to be a serious conjecture.

26. (Fig. 9 and Pl. IV, 12) Large fragment from limestone boundary settlement, 0.50 m. by 0.50 m. by 0.10 m. The findspot has not been recorded. Now in the Archaeological Museum Split. The letters measure 4.5 to 5.0 cms.

MEJNIKI V RIMSKI PROVINCI DALMACIJI. I. DEL

Povzetek

Avtor objavlja prvi del študije o mejnikih, na katerih so besedila formulirana po guvernerjevem dekretu kot razsodba na konkretno pritožbo. Zbral in pregledno predložil je vseh 27 doslej znanih mejnikov iz rimske Dalmacije, objavljenih v različnih glasilih (oziroma v Korpusu inscriptionum Latinarum) deloma v prejšnjem deloma v tem stoletju. Katalogu napisov, katerih tretjina je danes pogrešana, je dodal index. Večina tekstov spada v julijsko-klavdijsko obdobje in najdeni so v glavnem na jugu province. Ker je v napisih zabeleženih mnogo podrobnosti v zvezi z dekreti o razmejitvi oziroma z razmejitvijo samo (npr. med plemenoma zaradi paše, zaradi pristopa k studencu itd.), so zelo važni za osvetlitev upravnih določil na tem področju, dalje je zanimiva tudi tehnika tega poslovanja, lokalno-topografska problematika in še marsikaj, kar bo vsebina drugega dela razprave.
