Ne samo od kruha ...

Jezus je s tremi apostoli danes planinec. Šli so na visoko goro. Jezus, ki je imel izredno razvit čut za naravo je gotovo užival v lepoti planinskega sveta. Njegovo srce se je širilo ob čudovitih razgledih, ki so se odpirali na vse strani, se stikali z obzorjem in izgubljali v neskončnost. V njih je zrl odsev Očetove lepote. Toda Jezusa je vlekel na goro še nekaj drugega. Tam se je želel srečati z Očetom. Pa ne le skozi ogledalo narave, temveč osebno. Pogovor z Očetom ga je tako prevzel, da mu je obraz zažarel in so se mu oblačila zasvetila. Kaj vse sta si povedala, ni zapisano. Verno le, da je Oče nad Sinom izrazil veselje, apostolom pa naročil, naj ga poslušajo.

Sklepati smemo, da sta se pogovarjala o našem odrešenju. Sin je obljubil Očetu, da bo nadaljeval z oznanjevanjem njegove ljubezni in da bo za nas dal življenje. Oče je obljubil Sinu, da ga bo obudil od mrtvih in popeljal v svojo slavo, z njim pa tudi vse tiste, ki jih bo Sin odrešil. Obenem je vлил apostolom upanje in moč za zvestobo v času prihodnjih preizkušenj.

Ker je vse stvarstvo božje, nam je Bog blizu povsod. Tudi v gorah. Je pa gora, na katero nas Bog vabi na osebni pogovor in na kateri se nam ob nedeljah na poseben način razodeva. To je oltar v naših cerkvah. Vsakomur je dostopen. Vsi bi se ob njem morali pogovarjati z Očetom, utrjevati v svojem poslanstvu in neprenehoma spreminjati.

PRENOVA KAPELE

Naša kapela počasi dobiva drugačno podobo. V prvi fazi smo prenovili razsvetljavo. Dodali smo nove luči na stropu, spredaj in na steni. Pred kratkim so klopi dobile nove blazine. Sedaj pa smo še prenovili slike. Vse tri slike so umetniške kopije narisane na platno: tako slika Marije Pomagaj kot tudi Srce Jezusovo in Marijino. Slike smo naročili pri Ocean's Bridge & Our Art Studio. Prav tako smo na novo pozlatili okvirje preko DiCarlo trgovine. Prenova še ni končana, še nekaj načrtov imamo, da bo prostor dobil dokončno ureditev. Iskrena hvala Slomškovega oltarnemu društvu, ki je krilo stroške za okvirje in slike.

Sunday's Readings

2ND SUNDAY of LENT

First Reading Genesis 12:1-4

God calls Abraham to set out on a journey of faith and trust.

Second Reading 2 Timothy 1:8-10

Paul urges Timothy to accept God's grace, revealed to us in the death and resurrection of Christ.

Gospel Matthew 17:1-9

Jesus reveals his divinity to Peter, James and John, to prepare them for the reality of the resurrection.

"There in their presence he was transfigured."

Illustration

Our identity is one of the most complex parts of our life. It is made up of many factors. Genetic factors, family environment, education, economics, the example set us by people we admire – all of these factors affect our identity. The phrase “identity crisis” is nothing new: St Augustine wrote that at one stage in his life he became “a question to himself”.

We are often caught between two extremes. One of them is summed up by the great English writer Samuel Johnson: “Almost every man wastes part of his life in attempts to display qualities he does not possess, and to gain applause which he cannot keep.” The other extreme is put neatly by the American writer Tom Masson: “‘Be yourself’ is about the worst advice you can give to some people.” So we have to find the balance between two extremes: on one hand, being true to ourselves; on the other hand, living a life in cooperation with others, which may involve sacrificing something of ourselves. It may also involve acting a certain role.

We can also find ourselves being surprised, either pleasantly or not, by our own behaviour. Or by the behaviour of someone else – we might then talk about seeing someone “in a new light”. Imagine someone we have known for a long time, who suddenly reveals a capacity to sing beautifully, or a skill for picking locks. Perhaps someone we thought was mean turns out to be generous. Identity is indeed a mysterious thing.

Gospel Teaching

Today's Gospel reading is suffused with light, and the identity of Jesus. At the transfiguration the divinity of Christ and the holiness of his humanity shine out over the apostles. They glimpse the fullness of the identity of Jesus. Moses and Elijah show that the Law and the Prophets both pointed towards Christ. The cloud that overshadows him reminds us of the cloud in the Old Testament, which is a symbol of God's presence. The voice of the Father reveals the divine sonship of Christ. The transfiguration reveals the identity of Christ as second person of the Blessed Trinity, and as the incarnate Word of God, fully human and fully divine.

The apostles see him in a new light, the light of his divine glory. We might then think that Peter's reaction is strange, to build three tents so they can all have a sort of picnic on the mountain. But imagine if we were in his position. Overwhelmed by what he is experiencing, Peter perhaps makes this gauche remark out of sheer confusion, panic, even bewilderment. After all, even for someone who is praying for the divine Messiah to come, actually meeting him, and seeing him in the company of Moses and Elijah, is going to be a powerful experience. Our own minds need to be strengthened by the gift of faith to begin to believe in Christ without seeing him bodily. So how much more divine assistance would the apostles need to fully comprehend what was going on?

Application

Jesus gets his identity from his relation to the Father, both his eternal relation as the Word, and his human relation as the divine man Jesus of Nazareth. We in turn receive our truest identity from Christ. John's Gospel tells us that everyone who comes into the world is enlightened by the eternal Word, and we are made through him. By baptism, we are sacramentally joined to Christ and given the gift of faith. This wonderful gift allows us, even in this life, to begin to share in the life of the blessed Trinity. This is what makes Christianity unique, and what makes us not only share that uniqueness, but actively witness to it.

Throughout the history of the Christian faith, some people have found it difficult to accept the divinity of Christ. Others have found it difficult to accept his full humanity. We are privileged to be able to confess both. This privilege comes with responsibilities, however. We try to live out that mystery in the world: through prayer, by meditating on the Creed, by learning more about the faith. Like the apostles, we can ascend the mountain of the Lord, and our minds and hearts will be enlightened by a deeper faith, a firmer hope and a more lively love. The mystery of Christ's identity, and our own, will be made clearer to us. In eternity, we will not only see the radiance of Christ's glory; by a share in it, we will see the essence of God.
