WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

The primary object of holding conventions is to discuss plans for the future good and welfare of an organization.

The discussions on various questions at our convention at Pueblo, Colorado during the week of August 21, no doubt will be important and necessary, especially the sick, accident, operations and permanent disability benefits.

Our future membership depends upon "our juveniles" of today. It is reasonable to believe that in a very few years the business and affairs of our Association will be conducted and controlled by English-speaking members.

Fraternal organizations today as never before, are awakening to the need for youth in their lodges. Unless young members come in and are kept there to take up the burdens of the old, the existence of the local lodges in any society is limited to the lifetime of its present members.

It is not enough to merely enroll the juveniles for insurance. We must also stimulate and hold their enthusiasm by encouraging fraternal and social activities and by interesting and training them in the upbuilding of our principles.

Now is the time to think about these things and the convention is the time to take proper action. We should be modern and set pace with the times. We must compete with other organizations in this field and strive to emerge at the top of the list.

This letter is being submitted to each Supreme Officers, Delegate-elect and all our lodges with the sincere hope that the question of juveniles and English-speaking lodges will be given due consideration.

Yours in the interest of youth,

Geo. J. Miroslavich
