HALL RENTALS

Ljubi Boga in bližnjega

Če nekdo pravi, da ljubi Boga, bližnjega pa ne ljubi, je njegova ljubezen do Boga ničeva. Če kdo ljubi bližnjega, trdi pa, da Boga ne ljubi, Boga v resnici ljubi. Če kdo tako ljubi bližnjega, da pri tem pozablja nase, dejansko ne pozablja nase. Mati Terezija je s tem, ko je pozabljala sebe in se vso dala v službo najrevnejših, naredila zase več, kot bi mogla narediti s čimerkoli drugim. Kdor ne ljubi ne Boga ne bližnjega, tudi sebe ne ljubi. Sebičnost ni ljubezen, ampak je njena pokveka.

Ljudje poznamo mnogo sreč, toda samo ljubezen nas zares osrečuje. Zato je resnično srečen samo človek, ki resnično ljubi. Iz tega, koliko smo srečni, smemo sklepati, koliko ljubezni je v nas. Iz tega, koliko je naša mladina srečna, smemo sklepati, koliko ljubezni je v njej. Iz sreče, ki jo izzarevajo naše družine, smemo sklepati, koliko se njeni člani ljubijo. Iz sreče, ki jo odsevajo naša nedeljska srečanja, smemo sklepati, koliko ljubezni je v naših župnijskih občestvih. Iz količine sreče, ki jo doživlja današnje človeštvo, smemo sklepati na količino ljubezni, ki jo danes ljudje zmoremo.

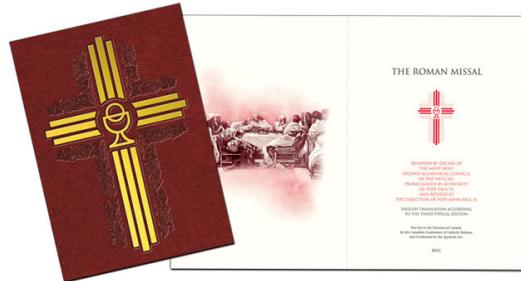

NEW ROMAN MISSAL - No 2

The words for the Penitential Act have been significantly revised to accurately translate the Latin text.

1. In the first option, commonly known as the Confiteor, we have a return to an older English version of the text – the one used during the experimental period before 1970.

The priest invites all to acknowledge their sins and so prepare themselves to celebrate the sacred mysteries. Then, after a brief silence, all say together:

I confess to almighty God
and to you, my brothers and sisters, that I have greatly sinned,
in my thoughts and in my words,
in what I have done
and in what I have failed to do,
through my fault, through my fault,
through my most grievous fault;
therefore I ask blessed Mary ever-Virgin,
all the Angels and Saints,
and you, my brothers and sisters,
to pray for me to the Lord our God.

The addition of the words: greatly sinned translate the Latin: peccavi nimis, and echo the words of King David who acknowledged his sin before the Lord (1 Chronicles 21.8). The words: through my fault, through my fault, through my most grievous fault, are a direct translation of the Latin: mea culpa, mea culpa, mea maxima culpa. As these words are spoken, all strike their breast once. The word: therefore, in the next line translates the Latin: ideo. Because we have sinned, we therefore turn to Mary and the saints and seek their intercession before God.

2. The second option has been recast in English and wonderfully echoes the Scripture texts on which it is based.

Priest: Have mercy on us, O Lord.

All: For we have sinned against you.

Priest: Show us, O Lord, your mercy.

All: And grant us your salvation.

The first two lines of the Penitential Act 2 are based on the Book of Baruch 3.2. The second two lines are taken from Psalm 85.8, a text which we use as a Responsorial Psalm during Advent.

3. The third form of the Penitential Act, which is in the form of a litany, has changed very little and provides a model for additional texts which may be freely composed by the priest.

V soboto, 22. oktobra 2011 je zakrament svetega krsta prejela ISABELLA MARIJA CIMINO, hči očeta Tony-ja Cimino in matere Brigite, roj. Kuzma. Iskrene čestitke staršema ob krstu njunega otroka. Naj ju spreminja božji blagoslov.

NEOBVEZNI GOD BL. PAPEŽA JANEZA PAVLA II.

Kogregacija za bogoslužje disciplino zakramentov je 22. julija izdala dovoljenje za obhajanje neobveznega godu nekdanjega papeža Janeza Pavla II. Datum za obhajanje godu je bil določen na dan, ko je papež Janez Pavel II. uradno nastopil svoj pontifikat, 22. oktobra 1978.

V lateranski baziliki je na ta dan slovesno sveto mašo daroval kardinalvikar Agostino Vallini, papežev zastopnik za rimske škofije. Pred tem so mladi pred baziliko priredili molitveno bdenje. Zaradi začasne prepovedi množičnega zbiranja, posledice nedavnih protestov, so odpovedali načrtovano procesijo od Trga sv. Petra do lateranske bazilike.

V Vatikanu je na ogled razstava slik Janeza Pavla II. poljske umetnice Anne Gulak. Naslov razstave je 'Obrazi blaženega Janeza Pavla II.'

Misijonska nedelja

Danes je misijonska nedelja. Danes se vsaka katoliška skupnost in župnija po svetu na tak ali drugačen način sodeluje. Globalno prizadevanje, prinesti duhovno in materialno pomoč bratom in sestrám, ki hrepenijo po ljubezni in upanju, ki ga prinaša spoznanje, da jih Kristus ljubi. Tvoja prijazna pomoč bo v pomoč misjonarjem po svetu. Pomoč bo novim cerkvam, da bodo rasle, da bodo močne in žive skupnosti vere. Prosimo, da molite za vse tiste, ki služijo v misijonskih deželah, da bodo vztrajali v poklicu služenja, ko prinašajo Kristusovo sporočilo ljubezni tistim, ki jim služijo, najbolj ranljivim in potrebnim.

Sunday's Readings

30th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Second Reading 1 Thess. 1:5-10

Paul rejoices in the fact that the disciples he helped form in Thessalonika have become missionary themselves.

Gospel Matthew 22:34-40

As the Pharisees seek to disconcert him, Jesus plays his trump card: everything depends on love.

"You shall love the Lord your God....you shall love your neighbor."

Illustration

Jean Houston, in her book called Godseed, describes her father, who wrote comedy sketches for comedians including the great Bob Hope, as someone for whom religion provided a wonderful source of joke material. Unlike her mother, who was a Sicilian Catholic, her father was something of a free spirit and took delight in sending Jean to her Catholic school with a fund of awkward questions to disconcert her teachers. The poor sisters could only scold her and warn her of the years in purgatory that awaited her for asking such questions. Jean's father taught her that Jesus was fun-loving and a comedian, while her mother instilled in her the confidence to see him as someone always willing to listen and help: not a bad start, when we consider how many people have been brought up in such awe of God that, even with Jesus as our teacher, God remains distant and remote.

Good teachers are those who help us to think for ourselves and discover the truth. For example, an enquiring and genuinely interested student, who was puzzled about how the human knowledge of Jesus related to his divine knowledge, posed the question: "When did Jesus know that he was God?" The inspired teacher replied: "When did you know that you were a human being?" It is in this spirit that we would do well to consider what is happening in the encounter between the Pharisees and Jesus, which we have just heard about in the Gospel.

Gospel Teaching

Throughout Matthew's Gospel, one of the subplots is the relationship between Jesus and the Pharisees, who were influential teachers of the tradition of Moses; but, as we know, the Pharisees' behaviour did not match their rhetoric and they saw Jesus as a serious threat to their authority. Once again today we are told how they try to disconcert Jesus, but Jesus is more than equal to them.

The New Testament scholar Tom Wright has a wonderful way of summarising this passage in his book Matthew for Everyone, calling it "game, set and match". Jesus sees the catch and so he offers his questioners an expansive view of their own history: the commandments handed them by Moses all hang on the two fundamental commands of the law of love. They cannot dispute this, but Jesus has undoubtedly touched a nerve, pointing to something that in their heart of hearts they know to be true: namely that they are not living lives of love.

The Pharisees were not being faithful to the teaching of the prophets, so powerfully outlined in Moses' call to look after the strangers, the widows and the orphans. They were lording it over the people and making demands, which left poor people where they were, helpless and often hopeless. Jesus never simply answers the questions put to him, he always uses the questions as an opportunity to invite us to reflect on our own experience and discover the truth.

Application

Jesus' response to the Pharisees can challenge us in our own time and place. For every community of people there is always a temptation to maintain order and control by laying down the law: this is the human way of keeping order. It is a perennial temptation even within the Church to misuse power in this way and believe that maintaining the structures is all that really matters. But Jesus shows us a wholly different way, in which those who are powerful do not lord it over those who are weak, but place themselves at the service of all. There is only one criterion by which we can judge ourselves and that is the law of love. And to be able to love we have to be free, even free to make mistakes.

Jesus came to bear witness to the truth, and said that the truth will make us free; and Paul latches on to this theme in his letters, constantly reminding his early converts that the Law in itself cannot save them, but only Jesus. Paul is clearly excited by the way the Thessalonians have grasped this message and are proving to be living examples for those around them.

Two thousand years later we might usefully ask ourselves, what kind of example do we give one another and those around us? The world is shrinking as modern technology provides us with means of communicating that would have been unimaginable in bygone days, yet still there are millions of strangers, widows and orphans who cry out for our love and care. How do we reach out to them?

CWL - KŽZ

At our last monthly General Meeting Fr. Drago informed us that our Holy Father, Pope Benedict XVI has initiated a day of reflection, dialogue and prayer for peace and justice in the world to take place on Oct. 27th , 2011. The Holy Father will make a pilgrimage to the home of Saint Francis in Assisi. He invites fellow Christians from different denominations, representatives of the world's religious traditions and all men and women of good will, to join him.

In an effort to participate in this endeavour members of the CWL are invited to recite Saint Francis' Prayer and the Prayer to Mary, Queen of Peace either personally or in a group for this intention, everyday during the week prior to the Pilgrimage to Assisi(Oct.20-27). Copies of these prayers are available at the back of the church. The Oct. 27, 7 p.m. mass intention from the CWL will be for world justice and peace.

It is our hope that our members participate in this initiative and invite other parish members to join them.
