Žbogar speaks at Cleveland City Club

On Friday, July 7, Ambassador of Slovenia to the United States, Samuel Žbogar gave a lecture, "The Situation in Southeast Europe. A View from Slovenia" at the traditional Friday Forum at the prestigious City Club of Cleveland.

Before a capacity audience of 280, Ambassador Žbogar began by outlining the significance of 15 years of Slovenian independence and the successful transition of this new country, which lies between Italy, Austria, Hungary and Croatia, and whose small dimensions include impressive variations in culture, language and climate. Ambassador Žbogar outlined the successful entry of Slovenia into the European Union and NATO, her upcoming transition to new currency, the Euro, and most impressively, her scheduled Chairmanship of the European Union in 2008, all of which are proof of Slovenia's strong leadership and international and domestic policies.

Ambassador Žbogar then addressed the current situation of all the former republics of Yugoslavia. He stressed the leading role that Slovenia plays as a mediator between the various regions of the former Yugoslavia and the developed Western European countries in the European Union.

He discussed the status of each of the republics, paying most attention to Serbia and to Bosnia and Herzegovina, which, he indicated, was the most complex and problematic, for her three ethnic groups continue to struggle with achieving unity in language.

Ambassador Žbogar explained the impressively peaceful secession of Montenegro and, at the same time, warned of the low moral which persists in Serbia, with its growing, unproductive, extreme nationalistic politics and how this does not allow for the recognition of such urgent issues as economic stagnation and the question of the status of Kosovo.

Žbogar unveiled the restored commemorative plaque, Slovenians, Thomas Jefferson and the Declaration of Independence, in downtown Cleveland's Mall B, just across from Cleveland City Hall. The late and famous Slovenian-American Senator, Governor and Mayor, Frank J. Lausche, presented to the United States Congress evidence that Thomas Jefferson, in drafting the Declaration of Independence, borrowed from the writings and ideas of the Dukes of Carinthia, from present day Slovenia.

The plaque which had been previously displayed, was recently restored by the Slovenian American Heritage Foundation.

Participating in the unveiling were also Consul General of Slovenia in Cleveland, Dr. Zvone Žigon, and President of the Slovenian American Heritage Foundation, Anthony Hiti.

Also in attendance were Slovenian American Councilmen Michael Polensek and Joe Cimperman, who both expressed great satisfaction at the vibrant celebration of 15 years of Slovenian independence throughout the month of June. Councilman Polensek stressed the importance of preserving the office of the Consulate General in Cleveland for the largest Slovenian community outside of Slovenia, is represented in this region of the United States.

Cleveland Slovenian Days A Treasured Experience

Editor,

Months ago, when I first uttered the idea of organizing a celebration of the 15th birthday of independent Slovenia, I didn't dream of the many extraordinary experiences that would unfold. Today we can together proudly conclude that the Slovenian community in Cleveland presented a culturally dynamic and widely communicated celebration of Slovenia's birthday. Other Slovenian communities throughout the world can look upon you with admiration, as can other ethnic descendants in the United States and all of Mother Slovenia herself.

Cleveland Slovenian Days has been a treasured experience. With pride in our hearts we saw the flag of Slovenia fly atop Cleveland City Hall and the beautiful banners, expressing, "Cleveland Celebrates its Slovenian Community," displayed along the streets of Cleveland. We know with dignified satisfaction that others enjoyed the same sights during their visits to Cleveland - Prime Minister Janez Janša, Foreign Minister Dimitrij Rupel, Senator George Voinovich, and numerous journalists from Slovenia.

I heartfully thank the many Slovenian establishments and organizations, of every shape and form, and each individual who contributed to this massive effort. Above all, I thank the active participants of the Cleveland Slovenian Days Committee and all members of the Slovenian-American media, for your enormous sacrifice and generous contribution of time, material, funding and most importantly, your positive and proactive attitude of willingness and mutual cooperation.

Cleveland Slovenian Days was the best possible gift for Slovenia, and for yourselves. With it, you as a community, realized your capacity for wonderfully productive co-operation and mutual understanding. This was a most valuable investment in the future of Slovenians living in the United States of America. Congratulations!

Computer Polka Mass

by RUDOLPH FLIS

Have I got something for you. Are you unable to leave home because of illness, or accident? I wish I could take credit for it, but it's not mine, and it's not for sale. It is soul grabbing, spiritual and a blessing to all of us of Slavic heritage.

It's the Polka Mass on the computer that you may have in your home. It was recorded a few Sundays past by Father George Balasko of the Youngstown Diocese. And here is where you can view it <http://catholicmass.blogspot.com>. You'll love it. If you miss going to Mass on Sunday, here you can do it anytime.

Say you get up at 3 a.m. and can't sleep, and maybe you have already said a Rosary or two; just turn on your computer and through the miracle of electronics, you can pray the Mass with Fr. George. The greatest prayer in the world, and it is yours at any time, any day, any month, and any place. Your mood will change as your toes and fingers keep time with the music. Your soul will unite with Jesus, as you pray with Fr. George and sing praises to Jesus and with you will be your loved ones as the Slavic music makes this Special Mass touch your heart and soul and all special to you.

If you are unable to bring it up on your computer, get one of your grandchildren over and it will be savored by both of you. How far we have come with technology, and this time it benefits you, me and God. We all thank you Fr. George.

Father George told me I must attend Mass on Saturday or Sunday, no matter how many times I pray the Mass on my computer. That way I can offer up my Communion for all you folks unable to travel to church and Mass.

Preserving Slovenian Identity

by CARL DEBEVEC

VACAVILLE, CA -- Thanks to Rich Terselic for his thoughts on the meaning of the Slovenian heritage. It brought up a lot of thoughts about ethnic identity, the need we may have to search for it in our own lives, and how we come to find it over a lifetime.

I was raised in a half-Slovenian household. My dad (Robert Debevec) being one of six children of a full-blooded Slovenian, James E. Debevec, my mom of German, English and other heritage (fair disclosure: James V. Debevec, publisher, is my uncle). Our Slovenian ancestry was prominent in the household. My recollections of growing up in Euclid in the 1950s include visits to a Slovenian home on E. 174th Street for holiday dinners and celebrations, frequent weekend picnics with other Slovenian families in the neighborhood, Christmas eve family gatherings at Grandpa Debevec's home, and all the Debevec uncles, aunts and cousins. (We still have pictures.) Holiday dinners included potica and other dishes that I later learned were of Slovenian tradition. (I also was assigned to learn the accordion at age 6, a trial I endured until age 8.) I have since and recently acquired an accordion and am renewing the acquaintance. (Joey Tomsick need not worry.)

The true and deep meaning of these traditions and the vast Slovenian cultural history escaped me however, for many years.

Over the years of high school and college and grad school I was, at best, vaguely aware of Slovenia as being a Central European part of Yugoslavia. I made some (ok, pathetic) effort to learn of its geography and traditions. As time and my interest in family heritage grew, I began a more expanded exploration of Slovenian culture and history. I learned my dad had only spoken Slovenian during the first five years of his life. Our Slovenian family tree was traced back to the 1700s, and learned of Grandpa Debevec's dedication to Slovenia and its people and his efforts to help them during the tough years.

The brief and victorious war for Slovenian independence in 1991 was the subject of much discussion and analysis in our family and was probably the stimulus for my quest to truly understand the meaning of my Slovenian background. (The recent articles in American Home on the 15th anniversary of Slovenian independence certainly filled in a lot of blanks in what I didn't know about that heroic event.) I found myself explaining to inquisitive friends that Slovenia was the small European country that bravely stood up to the Yugoslavs in 1991 and achieved its independence. And along the way it became one of the prime independent and successful capitalist countries in Europe.

A Christmas gift subscription to American Home several years ago from my dad truly opened the window to learning the Slovenian heritage. The many regular articles and letters and commentary about Slovenian history and the trials suffered by its people over the years especially during and after the war years have greatly enhanced my growing need to know about our shared history. Then I read the book "Slovenia 1945," a moving first person semi-narrative history of the post war years, and felt I was coming to a real understanding of what the Slovenian experience was about, the incredible suffering, heroism, and the ethnic price that has defined the Slovenian culture for many decades.

So when I read articles in the American Home about preserving our Slovenian identity, and about the events of 15 years ago, and the details of the story of lives such as those of Joseph Mihevc and Anton Žakelj, I find I have come over the years to a great and deep appreciation of this heritage we share and offer my thanks, our thanks, for those ready and willing to share their stories.

My acquaintance with this wonderful heritage grows in love and appreciation and is passed on to my children. As it should be to the children of all who share our wonderful history. So thanks to the American Home, its writers and publishers (and Uncle Jim and Aunt Madeline) for your efforts in carrying on the truth and legend of this awesome culture we are privileged to share.

Sold on 'Kres' Talent

Editor,

Clevelanders are very fortunate to have the talented and dedicated dancing group "Kres." I have heard about their wonderful performances for years, but since I live in Minnesota, I have never been fortunate enough to be in Cleveland at the same time as a Kres performance. Their next performance is on August 26 in the Slovenian National Home on St. Clair, but sadly, I will miss that one, too.

This week I received the next best thing from Ivan Hauptman - a DVD of last year's performance. I found this DVD to be absolutely delightful, entertaining and touching. Clevelanders can be very proud that you have so many talented adults and children participating in the Kres group. They present our Slovenian heritage with energy, enthusiasm and creativity. If I lived in Cleveland, I wouldn't miss their performance.

But, if you are like me and you can't make it to the show, order the 2005 Kres DVD from Miss Lauren Hauptman at tvhauptman@yahoo.com

The price, including shipping, is only $20. You can also order other quality DVDs, Slovenian books and recordings from the Slovenska Pisarna by contacting Felix J. Gaser at Slovenska pisarna, 6114 Lausche Ave., Cleveland, OH 44103 or email felixgaser@adelphia.net. Our thanks to Mr. Hauptman for his dedication and talent in producing this excellent record of our cultural heritage.

What's Problem With Being Balkan Country?

Editor,

I don't intend to argue, here, whether or not Slovenia is a Balkan country.

However, I find nothing "regrettable" about being a Balkan country. - Greece, the mother and cradle of ALL our European civilization, is a Balkan country.

Finding Help to Quit Smoking

by MARIJA MIKA STRASNER

SAEGERTOWN, PA — Our body is supposed to be the temple of the Holy Spirit and not have the disgusting smell of an old chimney. If you want to get rid of the horrible, evil habit of buying expensive, stench-emitting cigarettes that kill your body (as we all well know that many thousands die each year from this awful habit), then listen to my story.

I started smoking when I was a young girl during the Second World War. I was a student at that time and lived through the cruel, German occupation of my country. We students were hungry daily because food was not readily available. Little by little, I started smoking to control my hunger pains, and before I knew it, I was hooked.

After emigrating to America, I tried many, many times to stop smoking because I could not afford it as a poor, young, single, widowed mother who could not speak the English language. Because of my status, I could not qualify for a good job. In the struggle to try to stop smoking, I remembered how my father used to tell me that tobacco is a devil flower. When Lord Jesus was walking in a valley one day, he stopped and admired the beautiful creation of Almighty God. The devil joined Him and told Him that he will put one of his flowers between God's flowers and whoever tastes it will never leave it. Then with words from my heart, I prayed to Archangel St. Michael and to St. Mary Magdalene, from whom Jesus cast out seven devils, that they would help me rid myself of this evil habit that was destroying my health and my body.

And believe it or not, I stopped smoking without even thinking or trying hard about it. I even had a cigarette lying on my living room table for a long, long time, and not even a thought or craving came into my mind that would lead me to start smoking again.

About 10 years later, I also dreamt that I was smoking, and when I woke up, I had the taste of cigarettes in my mouth. This happened to me three times. Despite these temptations (which were probably from the devil), I still did not resume the habit.

Thanks to Sts. Michael and Mary Magdalene, I am totally rid of cigarettes. If you want to quit as well, I am writing this to tell you that you, too, should ask for help from up above as I have.

Wishes to Contact Frank Gorenc

Editor,

Greetings from Wenatchee, WA — On page 6 of the 04/20/06 issue of the American Home there was a nice article about Frank Gorenc, who is the Commander of the 332nd Air Expeditionary Wing, Balad Air Base, Iraq.

I grew up with Frank in Milwaukee, and have lost contact with him after moving West. He was always good, hard-working, and a real gentleman. Would you know his e-mail or surface mail address where one might be able to write to him. I would love to tell him how proud I am, and that he is in my prayers. I would appreciate any leads you may have.

Needless to say, they had one great crowd, but then it was a joint picnic between K.S.K.J. Lodge 236, Christ the King Lodge 63, St. Lawrence Lodge, Lodge 146 St. Joseph, which is my lodge, and Lodge 150, St. Anne. My congratulations to those who head up those lodges for with the cooperation among them, it was one terrific picnic. One of the best I have ever attended.

What food. It was sold very, very reasonable with most of it just being given away. My friend Joe Snyder from Lodge 63 was one of the chefs cooking the Slovenian sausages along with hamburgers and hot dogs on the main outside grill. I know Joe well from church and I must add that he has some hidden talent for he is one great cook. They had a lot of side dishes like macaroni salad, potato salad, and last but not least, real sweet corn-on-the-cob. Goes without saying that Ray thought he had died and gone to heaven. Ray decided to make up for all the food I was not able to eat when I was in the hospital.

There were sufficient cool drinks from draft beer to soda-pop. Since I had a hard time finding the place when I was not drinking, to be on the safe side, I stuck with pop to insure I would find my way back to the west side.

It felt good to be greeted by fellow lodge officers who said it was good to see me back on my feet. Yep, it was good to be back on my feet, although I did have a cane with me to insure I would not take a tumble.

I got to talk with Mike Bodana, the President of my lodge, along with Josie Kmet who is the Recording Secretary. One great lodge officer who has really provided the lodge with some fine places to go over the past years. Officers like them are few and far between, and it is only when we see younger officers like them that have taken over the helm that I feel the Slovenian lodges will be here for quite some time. To all of them, to all the officers from the various lodges, my sincere thanks for showing us how to have a real Slovenian picnic.

Ray was happy to get away from the four walls and once again be among my own good Slovenian folks. For one thing I failed to mention that I never seen so much pastry and if one had a sweet tooth, they were in second heaven. They had enough pastry to serve at least a dozen weddings. For just a short time I thought I was on the other side of the Alps, back in Kamnik, Rakek, Maribor and in the company of the fine Slovenian bands that reminded us of the great Slovenian songs. You know what, I could find "Odd Fellows Picnic Grove" in the dark now, even if the Slovenian music wasn't playing.

When I did leave, I still had a lot of tickets I had not used. Needless to say, I bought quite a bit to take home and made sure that my sister was eating Slovenian sausage for a couple of meals. My thanks to my sister Eleanor for going with me for if she had not been with me I would have turned around and gone home since I could not originally find 7272 Austin Powers Drive, Guess I should say thanks to the Police Department of Glen Willow for telling us how to find the picnic grove.

I have a hunch that by now you probably thought I would never end this column. Hold on tight for I have an "imported joke" from Walton Hills, from none other than my sister Eleanor. Are you ready?

An older woman gets pulled over for speeding. She says, "Is there a problem officer?" "Yes, ma'am. You were speeding. Can I see your license please?"

Elderly lady, "I don't have one." Lost it four years ago for drunk driving." Officer: "Can I see your vehicle registration?" Woman: "I stole the car." Officer: "Stole it?" Lady: "Yes, and then I killed and hacked up the owner and the body parts are in plastic bags in the trunk."

The officer slowly backs up. Within five minutes five police cars circle the car. A senior officer slowly approaches the car with his hand on his pistol. He says, "Ma'am, could you step out of the vehicle, please?" The woman steps out of the vehicle. The senior officer asks her to open the trunk. She complies and there is nothing in the trunk. "Is this your vehicle ma'am?" the senior policeman asks. "Yes it is. Here is the registration." The officer is quite stunned. He says, "One of my officers claims that you do not have a driver's license." The elderly lady produces one with no violations on it.

The senior policeman is quite puzzled. He says, "Ma'am one of my officers told me you didn't have a license, that you stole the car and murdered and hacked up the owner and hid him in the trunk."

The woman says, "I bet the fibber told you I was speeding, too."

With that, it is time to sign off wishing the good Lord blesses and watches over you. Remember to thank God for all the goodness that you have been blessed.

Child's View of Adults

A teacher asked her young pupils how they spent their summer vacation. One child wrote the following:

"We like to spend our vacation with Grandma and Grandpa. They used to live here in a big, brick house, but Grandpa got retarded and they moved to Florida and now they live in a place with a lot of other retarded people."

"They live in a tin box and have rocks painted green to look like grass. They ride around on big tricycles and wear name tags because they don't know who they are anymore."

"They go to a building called a wrecked center, but they must have got it fixed because it is all right now. They play games and do exercises there, but they don't do them very well."

"There is a swimming pool, too, but they all jump up and down in it with their hats on. I guess they don't know how to swim."

"At their gate there is a dollhouse with a little old man sitting in it. He watches all day so nobody can escape. Sometimes they sneak out, then they go cruising in their golf carts."

"My grandma used to bake cookies and stuff, but I guess she forgot how. Nobody there cooks, they just eat out. And they eat the same thing every night: Early Birds."

"My Grandma says Grandpa worked all his life to earn his retardment and says I should work hard so I can be retarded one day, too."

"When I earn my retardment I want to be the man in the dollhouse. Then I will let people out so they can visit their grandchildren."

Pure Slovenian?... Not Likely

by JOE GLINSEK

Many years ago, on a long flight, I was seated next to a minor embassy official from England. We talked about his travels, and our not-so-common language. With his public school British accent tempered for my benefit, and my diction carefully improved for him, we discussed the word usage and regional accents of both countries.

"I'm curious — where do you hear Americans speak with the least accent?" I asked. He paused, thoughtfully, "Most of the Midwest." — "I've always been puzzled by that term. What do you consider the Midwest?"

"Well, I'm thinking of large cities in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois — they sound much like you — where do you live?"

"Cleveland," I said.

"There, you see?"

Based on his wide experience in my country — and a little ego, I adopted his opinion. Arguably, we Midwesterners speak the purest form of American English.

Now imagine yourself in Slovenia — a country smaller than New Jersey — in a time when every little region had a unique dialect. In the adjoining village you'd be pegged as a stranger by your speech.

When these people emigrated to our Slovenian section of Collinwood in Cleveland, they became an ingredient of the American melting pot. But in our neighborhood, this ingredient had identifiable seasons of dialect, origins were a known factor. But in the larger context of the melting pot, they were just a group of Slovenians living in Collinwood, USA.

When I was growing up, Slovenians, like Italians, were often called by the name of their region. My family had a good ear, and could "zone" you in ten words or less. Surprisingly, only my American-born mother, fluently bi-lingual, had a special knack for mimicking any dialect. Things changed in the next generation. Immigration had been dormant, but picked up in the 1950s with better educated people speaking a schoolbook language.

As a kid, my family circumstances required the use of Slovenian, my second language. But the people I spoke to are gone. Most of the people I've met in Florida, where I've lived for 25 years, couldn't find Slovenia on a map. St. Mary's Collinwood, the parish where I grew up, works to keep the language and customs alive, but it's a struggle.

In a global market, Slovenians, many of whom speak perfect English, are not likely to seek emigration. My distant cousin is an architect living in Ljubljana. Her last project was in Africa. It's been over 60 years since I've needed my second language, and more than 30 since I've used it in conversation. I've been married to a thoroughly Irish wife for half a century. It's been a joy, but hasn't helped my Slovenian. "Use it or lose it," they say. And I've lost it.

I claim only faint remnants of familiarity with the sounds of the language that filled my ears as a child. Pure Slovenian? Not likely. Our own family was a mix of two dialects, so those were dominant. My dad was, by the standards of his time, well educated and raised in Ljubljana, the capital of Slovenia. He tried to steer me his way; it didn't work. I listened to a chorus of other dialects spoken by friends and neighbors, and it all rubbed off on my speech. My Slovenian was a curious mixture. Conversationally adequate, but certainly not pure.

Speaking of pure Slovenian, I read somewhere that it's the only living language virtually unchanged since it began, and if one could step back into 1200 AD, present-day Slovenians could easily converse with their ancestors. Hmmm... would it have to be pure Slovenian? Under other names, Ljubljana has been a major city for many centuries. Is it also the seat of pure Slovenian? Many would argue otherwise; and this begs another question. While touring medieval Ljubljana in a donkey cart, would I have to use sign-language?

They tell me the "j's" aren't actually silent, but try teaching someone to wrap their tongue around the ones in Ljubljana, even phonetically. It comes out Lublana. OK by me. For years I've been explaining that Slovenians are not the same as Slovaks. I think they finally get it.

Just because you are paranoid doesn't mean that people aren't out to get you.

6 Reflecting on Life of Anton Lavrisha

Eulogy given by Tony Lavrisha on the life of his father, Anton Lavrisha in St. Mary's church in Collinwood (Cleveland) on Saturday, July 1, 2006.

St. Mary's parish is the only parish my father, Tone, belonged to while he lived here in this great country of America. Therefore, it is appropriate that we are gathered here together once again, all 11 of us [9 children and parents] for the last time. We are fortunate to be able to be in this beautiful church dedicated to Our Lady because of the courageous leadership and sacrificial efforts of Fr. John Kumse, its pastor. Its beauty reflects the vibrant life of the parish and the Body of Christ. So thank you Fr. Kumse for being a good shepherd for the parish and our family.

Fr. Kumse, Fr. Bozner, Fr. Henry, relatives, and friends, on behalf of my mother, Marica, and my siblings thank you for this outpouring of love that you have showered on us during this time of loss of the bricklayer/zidar in our lives. Ata's humble beginnings in the shadow of the church of St. Margaret in Horjul, Slovenia did not forecast what the future would hold for him. Looking back, however, his life was centered on the basic building unit of the brick.

A brick comes in various sizes – long, or short, wide or narrow, high or low. If we compare Ata to a brick, he was clearly a short and wide size.

Typically a brick has a face which could be smooth or rough. Ata's was rough, etched by his upbringing and life during the bloodiest century known to mankind, etched by working, etched by handling thousands of bricks for each house in snow, wind, rain, mud, cold, and heat; so much so that his left hand looked like a claw from grabbing bricks while his right hand took the shape of the handle of the trowel.

A brick has holes. Ata had holes in his character as we all do. But the holes in a brick allow the mortar to squeeze in and it forms a stronger bond with the other bricks. The bonds of family and loyalty and commitment were important to Ata.

The edges of a brick are straight, square, and hard. They allow the bricklayer to lay a straight line of bricks whether level or plumb. Ata knew that to be a man of good character, one had to believe, one had to hope, and one had to love sacrificially.

When bricks are overlapped and mortar is added, beautiful patterns emerge as well as durable walls of homes, offices, factories, and churches that provide shelter. Moreover, bricks make graceful and strong arches resting on powerful pillars. As the wise pig in the story of The Three Little Pigs, Ata always believed that we should live in a brick house because it is safe and secure. Ata also lived in a strong, safe, and secure spiritual house kept by Mama. He faithfully and dutifully obeyed the Commandments, and celebrated the feasts of the Church. Through his example, he helped us build our own spiritual houses.

Although a brick is hard, it is brittle, and it will break, if struck in the right spot. Some bricks, however, don't break easily because of the type of clay and the degree of heat used to bake or fire the brick. The foundation of faith and family had fired Ata's brick to an incredible strength. How else did he survive being shipped off to his sister's farm to shepherd her cows at the age of 12? How else did he survive the Italian death camp of Rab? How else did he survive a bullet wound while rescuing a comrade under fire? How else did he survive transporting three Allied airmen through the Nazi infested valley of Horjul? How else did he survive the Displaced Person camp? How else did he survive coming to a new country, a new language, a new culture with nothing? How else did he survive this bipolar disease? How else did he survive the industrial accidents? How else did he survive raising nine children? Having grown up with Ata and having learned his history, we now have a profound respect for him, and we are eternally grateful to him.

Ata, hvala za tvoj trud in trpljenje za nas. Ata, nasvodenje in zbojanje. Ata, thank you for your perseverance and sacrifice for us. Goodbye, and until we meet again, go with God.

The life and times of Joseph Mihevc

Visit to Slovenia 1985

by JOSEPH MIHEVC

Memories of my youth prompted me to visit the country of my birth, where I had hoped for a better future. It seems that "every bird likes to go back to its nest" and I visited again in May, 1985. Time had erased some of the bad memories and I remembered how I had successfully prepared myself mentally for them when I had visited 19 years earlier in 1966.

My wife, Ann, did not go this time, because she had been to Rome, Lourdes and Slovenia just three years earlier. So, my son Joe and my grandson Justin accompanied me on this trip; and the planning started at Christmas.

We flew to Munich, rented a car and then drove through the snow-covered Alps into Slovenia. At the border of Austria and Germany, I asked the guard in German how far it was to Malnitz. He understood my German and answered accordingly.

After about an hour's drive through the picturesque Salzburg province, we arrived in snow-covered Malnitz. The train through the tunnel on the Tyrolean side had just departed which meant we had to wait an hour. As we exited the tunnel, the Molska valley opened up before our eyes and we were able to see the Drava river, which originated in Toblach on the Italian border. I had hoped to spend some time in Malnitz, where I had worked after the war, but because it was late and we did not want to arrive in Slovenia after dark, we proceeded onward. We quickly arrived in Podkoren, the border of Austria and Slovenia, where I recalled reading about this place in my father's journals from the First World War.

We left the snow behind and entered the Gorenjska area, where we saw the river Sava and proceeded toward Ljubljana. I felt like singing the following song:

O Vrba, the place of my dear and happy home.

Where the house of my father stands.

It grew dark very quickly. After asking several times for directions to Kleče, and the home of Kanci and Nevenka, we finally arrived and being quite exhausted, we rested for the night.

The rooster's crow awakened us in the morning and, when I looked out the window, I was surprised to see about a quarter of a meter of snow on the ground. It was interesting to see the apple blossoms poking through the snow. Someone had rescued the blossoms by shaking off the snow with a long stick.

After some conversation and planning, we departed for Cerknica, my hometown. The new highway from Ljubljana to Razdro led us through many places that I recognized, having traveled through the area by bike during the war years.

We went through Unec and then onto the road to Cerknica. Although a lot of things were still the same, there were also many changes, including new buildings and rearranged roads that altered the appearance of the landscape somewhat. The linden trees by road between Rakek and Cerknica were gone. A factory had replaced the field where frogs used to lull me to sleep when I was younger. The statue of Ludvik Lovko reminded me of the band practices, plays and performances of my youth. The last performance took place in 1941 when the Italians occupied Logatec and the territory. There were also many renovated and newly-built homes which changed the appearance of the town immensely. I recognized the church steeple, however, which still showed the damage done by a German grenade in 1943. The trees in the forests in Slivnica and towards Begunje had grown taller. I was reminded of the song:

Where are those paths that used to exist but are no longer there?

We finally arrived at my brother Tone's house, where we were warmly welcomed. We settled in for a good long talk that lasted until late into the night, and we planned the details of the visit. Since it was May, one of my wishes was to go to church for "šmarnice." So, we went to church, where people participated the same as they had in the past, although I would have liked to have heard more of the songs dedicated to Mary and the month of May. I looked around the church and did not recognize anyone.

There was some construction going on and new lights were being installed on the inside walls. Outside the church, younger people waited for the end of the ceremony so they could continue with their work in the church. A friend, Kunčev from Sv. Roka, broke away from the group of young people and introduced himself to me. I got the feeling he wanted to continue chatting with me, but unfortunately, I was at a loss for words and couldn't think of anything to say to encourage further discussion. I felt totally unprepared for such impromptu get-togethers.

Easy-to-prepare Cherry Spumoni can be a hit at parties, reunions and backyard barbecues.

(NAPS)—It's a great time to enjoy one of America's favorite fruits. Whether on their own, baked in a pie, mixed in yogurt parfaits or made into ice cream, cherries are popular with people young and old.

Tart cherries, the kind most famous in pies, are seldom sold fresh because they are highly perishable.

However, canned, frozen and dried tart cherries are available all year long at supermarkets and specialty food stores. Here are some quick and delicious ways to enjoy tart cherries:

• For an energy-packed treat on summer outings, combine dried tart cherries, chopped dates, semi-sweet chocolate chips and honey-roasted peanuts.

• Quench your summer thirst by combining 100 percent tart cherry juice, red grapefruit juice and lemon-lime carbonated beverage. Serve over ice.

• Add color and flavor to summer fruit salads with canned or frozen tart cherries. Peaches, kiwi fruit, watermelon, cantaloupe and cherries are a great combination. Lemonade concentrate makes a good dressing for this salad.

This easy frozen treat is sure to be a hit with family or friends.

Cherry Spumoni

2 cups heavy cream
½ cup (7 ounces) sweetened condensed milk
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
1 (21-ounce) can cherry pie filling ½ cup slivered almonds, chopped
½ cup miniature semisweet chocolate chips

Combine heavy cream, sweetened condensed milk and vanilla in a large bowl; mix well. Refrigerate 30 minutes. Remove from refrigerator and beat with electric mixer or wire whisk just until soft peaks form; do not overbeat. Fold in cherry pie filling, almonds and chocolate chips. Spoon into an 8 x 8 x 2-inch pan. Cover and freeze 4 hours, or until firm. Scoop into serving dishes. Makes about 1 quart.

QUIZ ANSWER

by James V. Debevec II

The Seneca Indians never used the word Allegany (or Allegheny) to describe their "Beautiful River." Instead, what word did they use in referring to what is now known as the "Allegany River?"

Thanks to Jerry Grdina of Pepper Pike, Ohio who correctly answered "Ohio."

From the Allegany Vacation Guide: "The Seneca Indians, one of whose reservations adjoins the state park (in Western PA) for the entire length of the latter's northern and western boundary, never used the word Allegany to describe the river. Their word was "oh-yee-ho" — which became "Ohio" when the French reduced the sound of the Indian word to their language and later into English; it became "Ohio."

"Oh-yee-ho" is Seneca for "The Beautiful River."

New Quiz:

What are the longest words consisting only of letters in the first half of the alphabet? There are two possible answers: both sharing the first two letters (Fi).

Send answers to Jim ah@buckeyeweb.com or mail to Jim, American Home, 6117 St. Clair Ave., Cleveland, OH 44103.

Občinske in županske volitve bodo letos 22. oktobra – Mandati trajajo štiri leta Predsednik Državnega zbora France Cukati, skladno s svojimi dolžnostmi, je razpisal redne občinske in županske volitve za nedeljo, 22. oktobra. Te volitve so vsaka štiri leta. V Sloveniji bodo volili v več kot 200 občinah, stranke se pa že vneto pravljajo na te volitve. V letu 2007 bo potekal petletni mandat predsednika države, leta 2008 bodo pa zopet redne parlamentarne volitve, v vsakem slučaju najbolj verjetno v drugi polovici leta, za parlamentarne torej dokaj kmalu po koncu slovenskega predsedovanja EU prvih šest mesecev 2008, kar utegne biti precejšnjo aduto za sedanjo vlado.

Nova slovenska veleposlanika pri Sv. sedežu in v Argentini

V začetku julija je predsednik Janez Drnovšek imenoval Ivana Rebernika za novega slovenskega veleposlanika pri Sv. sedežu. Vatikan ne bo zanj novost, saj je od leta 1983 do predlani bil direktor kataloškega oddelka vatikanske knjižnice. Gre sicer za dr. Rebernika, saj je doktor filozofske znanosti, diplomirani teolog in profesor knjižničarstva. Na novi funkciji – nastopil jo je 3. julija – je dr. Rebernik zamenjal dosednjega veleposlanika RS dr. Ludvika Toplaka, ki je bil pred tem rektor mariborske univerze. Prvi veleposlanik neodvisne in od Sv. sedeža priznane Slovenije je bil Štefan Falež, nasledil mu je pa bil dr. Karlo Bonutti.

Sredi junija pa je nastopil svojo novo službo veleposlanika RS Slovenije v Argentini prof. Avguštín Vivod, ki je sicer večino svojega življenja živel prav v Argentini. Po osamosvojitvi se je vrnil v Slovenijo, bil je npr. zelo aktiven na ustanovnem zasedanju Svetovnega slovenskega kongresa kot delegat iz Argentine. Njegovo imenovanje za veleposlanika je naletelo na opozicijo levicarjev v Sloveniji, baje naj ne bi bila preveč navdušena niti Argentina, ki da je odlašala z odobravanjem. Slovenska vlada je pa vztrajala pri kandidaturi in tako je morel prof. Vivod svoje dolžnosti prevzeti.

In zopet dr. Janez Drnovšek

Tokrat je predsednik Slovenije prišel v javnost zaradi dveh svojih potez. Prvič, nabolj je na finančnega ministra dr. Andreja Bajuka prošnjo za dodelitev dodatnih 200 milijonov tolarjev za svoje stroške. Drnovšek je namreč že v prvi polovici letosnjega leta šel pretežno skozi 242,7 milijona tolarjev, kar naj bi bil njegov predsedniški proračun, in tako za ostalih skoraj šest mesecev leta bi rad dobil še 200 milijonov tolarjev. Ni še jasno, kako se bo stvar razčistila.

Drugič, Drnovšek se je odločil podeliti državno odlikovanje Zlati red za zasluge 90-letnemu Niku Kavčiču, možkarju, ki je v sicer dolgi karieri bil oficir Ozne, o njem se piše (med drugim v Janez Janševi knjigi Okopi), da je kot tak počel razne hude stvari, v povojnem obdobju naj bi bil med drugim ključen človek pri vzponu Milana Kučana na vrh partijske lestvice, in še in še. Zdaj pa ima še eno visoko odlikovanje.

Vlada ustavila sveta za Slovence v zamejstvu in po svetu

Vlada je na seji 13. julija sprejela sklep o ustanovitvi, sestavi, organizaciji in nalogah sveta vlade za Slovence v zamejstvu in sklep o ustanovitvi, sestavi in organizaciji sveta vlade za Slovence po svetu. Oba sveta sta kot stalni posvetovalni telesi vlade predvidena v novem zakonu o odnosih Slovenije s Slovenci zunaj njenih meja, ki je pričel veljati 6. maja 2006.

Svet za Slovence po svetu sestavlja predsednik sveta, podpredsednik sveta in 19 članov, od tega je šest predstavnikov državnih organov in institucij ter organizacij civilne družbe iz Slovenije in 13 članov predstavnikov Slovencev po svetu. Predsednik tega sveta je predsednik slovenske vlade.

Obsežno o nedavnem uradnem obisku Janeza Janša v ZDA

Dobrodošli pri supersili

Predsednik slovenske vlade Janez Janša se je mudil na uradnem obisku v ZDA in se tam srečal s predsednikom Georgeom W. Bushem, potem ko se je konec maja sešel z ruskim predsednikom Vladimirjem Putinom.

Ur. AD: To obsežno reportažo je pripravil novinar Metod Berlec za tedenik Demokracijo in je bila objavljena 20. julija. Berlec je bil med novinarji, ki so spremljali slovensko delegacijo na nedavni obisk v ZDA. Tako gre za določeno ponavljanje, vendar po drugi strani nudi bolj celotno sliko obiska. Naj pripomnim, da so v tekstu napake, značilne za novinarja, ki se prvič soočuje z množico novih podatkov in je brez solidnega konteksta. Napake pustim brez popravkov. Zopet poudarjam, da je ta reportaža namenjena javnosti v Sloveniji, in tudi, da je omenjeni tedenik Demokracija – kar precej milo rečeno – naklonjen premierju Janezu Janši in njegovi stranki SDS.

Še to: reportažo spreminja kar precej fotografij, na koncu pa piše: Podrobnejšo fotoreportažo obiska ... si lahko ogledate na spletni strani www.demokracija.si

Njegov obisk od 7. do 12. julija smo spremljali novinarji, fotografi in nekoliko presenetljivo samo snemalec Info TV. Priče smo bili obisku na najvišji ravni; premierja Janšo sprejeli najpomembnejši predstavniki ameriške administracije. Še noben slovenski politik ne bil deležen tolikšne pozornosti.

Odlikanje Ediju Gobcu

Kot smo v Demokraciji nedavno pisali, živi v Clevelandu in okoli največja slovenska skupnost v ZDA. Zato je predsednik vlade najprej obiskal to mesto, ki leži ob jezeru Erie v zvezni državi Ohio.

Po prihodu si je najprej ogledal slovenski cerkvi sv. Marije Vnebovzetje in sv. Vida. Prvo cerkev na Holmesovi avniji vodi župnik John Kumset (sic.), ki je irskoslovaškega rodu (sic.). Ker gre za slovensko cerkev, dobro govoril slovensko. Poleg cerkve je tudi šola, v kateri se otroci ob sobotah učijo slovenščine.

Cerkev sv. Vida na Aveniji Lausche vodi slovenski župnik Jože Božnar. Ob tej priložnosti se je našemu premierju zahvalil, da je slovenska vlada v Cleveland končno poslala res delovnega generalnega konzula dr. Zvoneta Žigona, ki veliko naredi za tamkajšnje Slovence.

V domu slovenskih upokojencev poleg župnika sv. Vida je Janša posebno priznanje urada za Slovence v zamejstvu in po svetu podelil upokojenemu profesorju dr. Ediju Gobcu za dolgoletno aktivno, požrtvovalno ter znanstveno in raziskovalno delo za kulturno in narodnostno blaginjo slovenstva v ZDA in zapisek k osamosvojitvi in priznanju Republike Slovenije.

Gobec se je v izredno čustvenem govoru ob navdušenju navzočih Slovencov zahvalil Janši za priznanje in poudaril, da je še posebej vesel, ker ga je dobil iz rok nekdanjega oporečnika:

"Hvaležni smo vam za vse vaše še vedno premallo znane žrtve, delo in uspehe za lepšo demokratično prihodnost Slovenije."

Skoraj sočasno s tem je Gobec, tako kot še nekateri drugi Slovenci po svetu opozoril Washington Times, da Slovenija ni balkanska država, kot se jim je zapisalo ob Janševem obisku.

Ob koncu obiska se je Janša rokoval s prav vsemi navzočimi predsta-vniksi starejše generacije, med njimi s 102-letno Ivano Hirscherger, enemu izmed njih pa je podpisal knjigo Premiki (Ur. AD: s člankom je objavljena fotografija o tem, prikazan je stanovalec v St. Vitus Villageu Vili Zadnikar.)

Pred desetletji so okoli obeh cerkv živelii večino Slovencov. Danes se jih je večina preselila v bolj urejena in bogata predmestja, saj so se s pridnim delom v Ameriki povzpeli na družbeni lestvici, tu pa zdaj živi večina revnejše črnsko prebivalstvo.

Srečanja s prijatelji

V soboto se je predsednik vlade najprej srečal z zveznim senatorjem slovenskega rodu Georgeom Voinovichem in županom Frankom Jacksonom. Z njima je obiskal tudi mestno hišo, kjer so si ogledali razstavo o clevelandskih Slovencih, ki je bila postavljena v čast petnajstletnici samostojne Slovenije.

Med drugimi so se srečanja udeležili najstarejši mestni svetnik po stažu Mike Polensek in Joe Cimperman. Tony Ovsenik, ki dela za clevelandski javni radio in tedenško poroča za Radio Ognjišče o tamkajšnjem dogajanju, in Mario Kavcich, ki že dolga leta skrbi za slovenske oddaje na eni izmed tamkajšnjih radijskih postaj.

Pogovori so potrdili, da zvezna država Ohio in mesto Cleveland ceni delo slovenske skupnosti. Voinovich je premierja Janšo označil za borca za svobodo in demokracijo, ki je prema-

Generalni konzul Republike Slovenije v Clevelandu dr. Zvone Žigon:

Drage rojakinje in rojaki,

Ko sem se pred meseci lotil prvih pogovorov o organizaciji praznovanja 15. rojstnega dneva neodvisne Slovenije, nisem niti sanjal kaj vse se bo v resnici razvilo iz "nametnih" zamisli in želja. Danes lahko skupaj s ponosom ugotovimo, da ste Slovenci v Clevelandu pripravili najobsežnejše in najbolj raznoliko dogajanje v čast "slavljenke" Slovenije – na vas lahko z občudovanjem gledajo druge slovenske skupnosti po svetu, pripadniki drugih narodnosti v ZDA in celo matična Slovenija.

Imeli smo veliko čast in srečo, da so razstavo v mestni hiši, slovensko zastavo na njeni stehi ter modre prapore na ulicah Clevelandu na lastne oči videli celo predsednik Vlade Republike Slovenije Janez Janša, zunanjji minister dr. Dimitrij Rupel, senator George V. Voinovich in številni novinarji iz Slovenije.

Vsem slovenskim ustanovam vseh vrst in oblik ter posameznikom, ki ste sodelovali pri tej veliki akciji, predvsem aktivnim članom Organizacijskega odbora Slovenskih dnevov v Clevelandu in tukajšnjim slovenskim medijem, se iz srca zahvaljujem za darovano delo, čas, material, denar, predvsem pa za dobro voljo in veliko mero medsebojnega sodelovanja.

To je bilo najlepše možno darilo Sloveniji. Pa ne le to. Pokazali ste, da znate prisluhniti drug drugemu in sodelovati – kar pomeni, da so bili Slovenski dnevi v Clevelandu enkratna naložba v prihodnost slovenstva v ZDA.

Čestitam!

Dr. Zvone Žigon

gal komunistično jugoslovansko armado in Slovenijo popeljal v svobodo. Našo državo je ocenil za zelo uspešno.

Janša se je za pomoč pri osamosvajjanju posebej zahvalil tamkajšnjim Slovencem, ki so po njegovih besedah ključno pripomogli, da so ZDA priznale samostojno Slovenijo.

Sledil je obisk osrednjega Slovenskega narodnega doma v Clevelandu na Aveniji St. Clair, kjer je glavna slovenska ulica v mestu. No, podobno kot pri obeh cerkvah je tudi v tem delu Slovencov danes bolj malo. Na njihovo množično navzočnost v preteklosti obiskovalca opozarjajo predvsem slovenski priimki na trgovinah. V mestu in okolici je bilo nekoč 16 slovenskih domov, danes je še devet delujočih.

Predsednika vlade so pričakali predsednik Slovenskega narodnega doma Bob Hopkins, številni predstavniki slovenskih ustanov v mestu in znani ameriški Slovenci.

V osrednji dvorani narodnega doma sta zborna Korotan (v njem poje tudi Kati Dempsey, ki je v Clevelandu skrbela za novinarje) in Fantje na vasi zapela slovensko in ameriško himno. Predstavnica Slovencev Mary Ann Vogel je vse prav lepo pozdravila, še posebej pa premierja Janšo.

Slednji se je zahvalil za lep sprejem in poudaril, da je zgodba o uspehu Slovenije tudi njihova zgodba. "Med Slovenci, ki v domovini niso mogli uresničiti svojih ambicij in so se odločili poskusiti srečo v ZDA, so bili tudi najdoljejši slovenski sinovi in hčere. Množim je na tej strani Atlantika uspelo, vendar niso pozabili na tiste, ki so ostali doma. Pošiljke z ameriškimi znamkami so mnogim obljudljali drugačen, boljši svet.

Nekateri izseljenici so se vrnili in s sabo prinesli svež kapital, nove izkušnje, in kar je najpomembnejše, pristnega podjetniškega duha, ki ga je nekdanji režim poskušal zatreći. Upamo, da bodo otroci in vnuki izseljencev razbrali nove priložnosti in udejanjili tega duha v sodobni Sloveniji."

Govor, ki so ga navzoči večkrat pretrgali s ploskanjem, je sklenil z besedami: "Drage rojakinje, dragi rojaki, naj si na

METOD BERLEC — 20. julij 2006

Prijatelja v Beli hiši

Srečanje slovenskega predsednika vlade Janeza Janše z ameriškim predsednikom Georgeom W. Bushem in drugimi pomembnimi predstavniki ameriške administracije je pokazalo, da Američani spoštujejo Slovenijo in cenijo našo pomoč pri "širjenju svobode in demokracije v svetu". Ameriški predsednik se je tako zahvalil slovenskemu premierju za prijateljstvo in za pomoč v Afganistanu in Iraku ter na drugih kriznih žariščih. Vesel je bil njegovega pogleda na razmere na Zahodnem Balkanu. Po Bushevem prepričanju je Janša človek z jasno vizijo, ki razume, kako pristopati k problemu in kako doseči čim boljše rezultate.

Zelo pohvalno se je izrazil tudi o Sloveniji. Leta 2001 se je Bush na Brdu pri Kranju srečal z ruskim predsednikom Vladimirjem Putinom. Prostodušno je dejal, da je po vrnitvi domov rojakom dejal, da je Slovenija zanimiv "košček nebes" s čudovitimi ljudmi. Bush je slovensko uradno delegacijo med pogovori v Beli hiši presenetil z dobrim poznavanjem slovenske poti v samostojnost in vlogo slovenskega premierja pri tem. Tako kot drugim ameriškim politikom, s katerimi se je srečal Janša, je Bushu pri srcu dejstvo, da ga je obiskal nekdanji politični disident in eden glavnih akterjev demokratizacije v Sloveniji. Sogovorniki so v Janši "spoznali" slovenskega Havla oziroma Walenso.

Našo stran je Bush podrobno informiral o razmerah na različnih svetovnih kriznih žariščih. Bush in Janša sta govorila tudi o bolj koordinirani energetski politiki med ZDA in Evropsko unijo, o potrebi po enotnejši energetski politiki znotraj EU pa tudi bližajočem se slovenskem predsedovanju EU. Nekaj pozornosti sta namenila iranskemu jedrskemu vprašanju, saj bo Slovenija kmalu predsedovala svetu guvernerjev Mednarodne agencije za jedrsko energijo.

Slovenski premier je ocenil odnose med državama za zelo dobre. Zahvalil se je ZDA za podporo na poti v NATO. "Zdaj ko smo včlanjeni v NATO, se čutimo odgovorni, da tudi mi prispevamo k širjenju območja stabilnosti in miru, in na tej točki razmišljamo enako kot ZDA. Niso zainteresirani samo za lastno dvorišče, ampak se zavedamo, da v globalnem svetu globalna situacija vpliva na koncu tudi na tvoj lastni položaj doma ..."

Treba je priznati, da toliko pohvalnih besed, kot smo jih v preteklih dneh slišali v Washingtonu o Sloveniji in našem predsedniku vlade, novinarji, ki smo spremljali vladno delegacijo v ZDA, nismo pričakovali. Delno je bilo to sicer zaradi dejstva, da je tako v ZDA kot v Sloveniji sedaj na oblasti politična opcija, ki ima podobno politično agenda in podoben pogled na svet. Vsekakor je Janezu Janši v dobrega pol leta uspelo narediti velik mednarodni preboj. Konec lanskega leta ga je v Londonu na Downing Streetu sprejel britanski premier Tony Blair, marca se je v Berlinu srečal z nemško kanclerkijo Angelo Merkel, konec maja ga je v Kremlju sprejel ruski predsednik Vladimir Putin in sedaj v Beli hiši ameriški predsednik George W. Bush.

Zdi se, da je Slovenija, s tem ko bo kot prva med novimi članicami Evropske unije prevzela evro in bo prva med novimi državami predsedovala Evropski uniji, postala zgled uspešne države. Če je bila sredi devetdesetih let to Češka, je danes to nedvomno Slovenija.

Podobno prijetna so bila srečanja s Slovenci v Clevelandu in okolici. Če je bila Slovenija v preteklosti mačeha do dela izseljencev, ki niso bili prave politične barve, tokrat ni bilo tako. Predsednik vlade se je srečal s Slovenci različnih političnih prepričanj in različnih usod. Eni so prišli v Ameriko kot ekonomski izseljenci, eni so zbežali iz Slovenije zaradi komunističnega terorja. Oboji pa so si s trdim delom ustvarili novo življenje. Kljub temu so še naprej povezani z matično domovino oziroma domovino svojih prednikov. Janša jih je zato pozval k sodelovanju in enotnosti ... Kakor koli že, uradni obisk slovenske vladne delegacije pod vodstvom premierja Janeza Janše je bil v znamenju presežkov! ■

Dobrodošli pri supersili

koncu v imenu Slovenije zaželim, da bi enotni vztrajali na poti sodelovanja. Slovenija ima svetlo prihodnost le, če jo bodo Slovenci čutili kot svojo domovino. Od vas se poslavljam z upanjem, da se kmalu srečamo tudi v Sloveniji. Hvala. Bog živi Slovenijo!"

Sledilo je krajše družabno srečanje. Janša je tako prvič v življenju srečal svoje clevelandske srodnike, pri svojih srodnikih se je mudil televizijski voditelj Uroš Slak in skupaj z njimi je prišel poslušati predsednika vlade. Tam so bili Ivan Boršnik, Joe Valentich, Edi Gobec z ženo in številni drugi.

No, kot mi je dejal eden izmed zgovernih domačinov, sta bila Slovenski narodni dom in njegova osrednja dvorana, kjer je na odru veličastna replika slikarja Maksima Gasparija Mati Slovenija, tisto popoldne rezervirana za črnsko poroko. Stvari je pač treba čim bolje tržiti ...

Union ali laško?

Pot nas je vodila do Slovenske pristave, ki leži slabo uro vočnje južno od Cleveland. Leta 1960 so to zemljišče kupili Slovenci, ki so prišli v ZDA po drugi svetovni vojni in so bili predvsem politični emigranti.

Tu so si zgradili svojo gostilno, dvorano, prostor za veselice, veliko otroško igrišče, nogometno igrišče, bazen pa tudi domobransko pokopališče Orlov vrh s kapelico kot spo-min na kraje v domovini, kjer so komunisti izvajali genocid nad Slovenci.

Društvo Slovenska pristava šteje okoli sedemsto družin. Ker je kraj prijeten za druženje in rekreativo, se jih ob nedeljah zbere več sto, nekajkrat na leto pa še precej več.

Predsednika vlade in člane delegacije je sprejel predsednik Slovenske pristave Milan Ribič, novinarje pa je presenetil njegov namestnik z vprašanjem: "Ali boste pili union ali laško?" Ob slovenski narodnozabavni glasbi nam je nato na moč teknil krompir s kranjsko klobaso in zeljem. Slovenske kuharice pod vodstvom mag. Marije Sedmak, ki ima sedem otrok in ob sobotah uči slovenščino v šoli pri cerkvi sv. Marije Vnebovzete, so skuhale pravo slovensko kosilo, kakršnega smo ob ameriški hitri hrani v naslednjih dneh prav pošteno pogrešali.

Na 25 "Slovenefestu"

Sledila je dveurna vožnja do Enon Valleyja v bližini Pittsburgha v državi Pensilvanija, kjer se je na t. i. Slovenefestu zbral več tisoč potomcev Slovencev, ki so se preselili v ZDA večinoma že pred drugo svetovno vojno.

Slovenskega premierja so tam pozdravili predsednik Slovenske narodne podporne jednote (SNPJ) Joe Evanish, predsednik Kranjsko-slovenske katoliške jednote (KSKJ) Rudi Krašovec in predsedniki drugih slovenskih organizacij v Ameriki.

V tako imenovani Alpinski sobi, kjer se je zbralo okoli tisoč ljudi, je Janša nagovoril navzoče. Zahvalil se jim je za pomoč pri osamosvajaju Slovenije, jim predstavil slovenske dosežke in poddaril, da želi Slovenija sodelovati s celotno slovensko skupnostjo v ZDA.

"Čas je, da pozabimo na stare zamere in začnemo sodelovati. Združeni smo močnejši."

Vse je ob koncu povabil v Slovenijo.

Predstavnikom Muzeja slovenske dediščine je izročil priznanje ob tridesetletnici delovanja muzeja. Tamkajšnji Slovenci so ob tej priložnosti Janši izročili darilo.

Dobrodošli pri supersili

(NADALJEVANJE S STR. 13)

Podobno kot Slovenska pristava je Rekreativni center SNPJ namenjen predvsem sproščenemu druženju tamkajšnjih Slovencev oziroma njihovih potomcev, saj v nasprotju s pristavo, kjer prav vsi dobro govorijo slovensko, tu živeči potomci slovenskih priseljencev znajo le še kakšno besedo slovensko.

Radi pa se zavrtijo ob ritmih slovenske polke. Na celotnem prostoru z več velikimi šotori, v katerih so igrali slovenski in ameriški ansamblji, ter na športnih igriščih je bilo več tisoč ljudi. Vsačko leto na tej prireditvi izberejo tudi kraljico "Slovenfesta".

Prvi vtisi v Washingtonu

Proti večeru smo polegeli v Washington. Vladna delegacija je bila nastanjena v Hotelu Willard Intercontinental, novinarji pa smo bili v sosednjem hotelu Washington. Oba sta le streljaj od Bele hiše.

Zvečer smo nekateri novinarji odšli na prigredek v bližnjo restavracijo. Ker nismo vedeli, da je za natakarje tam velika napitnina nekaj samoumevnega, smo k računu primaknili le dobrega pol dolarja več. Temnopoliti natakar nas je zato, še preden smo popili do konca, dobesedno nagnal: "It's time to go."

Washington se je po 11. septembringu 2001 precej spremenil. Ko sem bil tam leta 1998, je bilo veliko manj varnostnikov in policistov in turisti so si lahko ogledovali Belo hišo. Danes to ni več mogoče. Še več. Okoli nje so postavili dodatne betonske ograje, kjer se zvečer ne smeš gibati. Podobno je okoli številnih drugih državnih ustanov. Središče mesta pa je podobno kot Cleveland lepo urejeno.

V nedeljo je bil program predsednika vlade manj natrpan. Janša si je ogledal Muzej holokavsta, kjer je položil venec in se vpisal v knjigo gostov. Za novinarje je bila to priložnost, da si podrobnejše ogledamo mesto in v enem od lokalov vsaj delno tudi finale svetovnega nogometnega prvenstva med Italijo in Francijo.

Ameriško glavno mesto s številnimi muzeji in spomeniki je vredno ogleda. Poleg Bele hiše dajejo središču mesta poseben pečat Kapitol, kjer domuje ameriški kongres in senat, obelisk, posvečen prvemu ameriškemu predsedniku Georgeu Washingtonu, in Lincolnov spominski center.

Zvečer je Janša v rezidenci slovenskega veleposlanika gostil ugledne ameriške Slovence, ki izstopajo z uspehom v ameriški družbi (James L. Oberstar, Robert Tomisch, Bogdan Grom, dr. Egon Zakrajšek, Darja Gačnik, Alenka Suhadolnik, dr. Boris Pleskovič, dr. Miloš Kravanja in drugi).

Pri predsedniku ZDA

V ponedeljek dopoldne (tj. 10. julija, ur. AD) je sledil vrhunc obiska – srečanje slovenskega premierja Janeza Janše z ameriškim predsednikom Georgeom Bushem v Beli hiši. Premierja so spremljali zunanj minister Dimitrij Rupel, veleposlanik RS v ZDA Samuel Žbogar, šefinja premierjevega kabineta Nika Dolinar, premierjeva svetovalca za mednarodne odnose dr. Andrej Rahten in Gorazd Renčelj, brigadir Bojan Pograjc, premierjeva tiskovna predstavnica Katja Ujčič, dr. Peter Jambreš, Andrej Balut, šefinja protokola Ksenija Benedetti in uradni fotograf.

Novinarji smo morali biti pred Belo hišo že uro in pol pred obiskom. Velike medijske hiše imajo znotraj ograje na trati pred Belo hišo stalno postavljene kamere za oglašanje v živo. Podobno je znotraj tiskovnega središča, kjer imajo svoje delovne prostore stalni dopisniki.

Malo pred deseto dopoldne se je skozi severozahodna vrata pripeljal slovenski premier. Sledilo je skoraj enourno srečanje med ameriškim predsednikom in slovenskim premierjem v Ovalni pisarni.

Ob koncu pogоворov, ko sta oba predsednika podala izjavo, smo smeli tja za nekaj minut stopiti tudi novinarji, fotoreporterji in snemalci. Še posebej smo se zapomnili, da se je Bush izredno pohvalno izrazil o Sloveniji in jo označil za "zanimiv košček nebes" s čudovitim ljudmi.

Tako Janša kot Bush sta bila sproščena, kar je kazalo, da je bilo srečanje zelo konstruktivno. Med pogovori s slovensko delegacijo je Bush

Srečanje z državno sekretarko Condoleezzo Rice

celo grizjal ledene kocke.

Sledila je Janševa tiskovna konferenca pred Belo hišo za slovenske medije. Ker smo hiteli naprej, sem tam pozabil diktafon, a sem ga po-poldne brez težav dobil. Varnostniki so mi dejali, da so ga našli na tleh.

Arlington in Georgetown

Po obisku Bele hiše je sledila hitra vožnja do pokopališča Arlington, kjer je slovenski premier ob veliki častni četi ameriške vojske (okoli 400 vojakov) in vojaški godbi položil venec na Grobničo neznanega junaka.

Vojaški obred je bil res vreden ogleda. Ko je igrala ameriška himna, so jo ameriški turisti, ki so se zbrali na zato pravljjenih odrih, poslušali z desnico na prsih. Novinarji pa smo razmisljali, kako so Američani ponosni na svojo domovino.

Premier Janša je prvi predstavnik slovenske države, ki je položil venec na tem znamenitem pokopališču, kjer so pokopani številni ameriški predsedniki.

Zatem je dal intervju za ameriško televizijsko mrežo Fox News; televizijski voditelj ga je spraševal predvsem o Severni Koreji, stanju demokracije v Rusiji in bližajočem se slovenskem predsedovanju Evropski uniji.

Popoldne se je Janša srečal s senatorjem in predsednikom odbora za mednarodne odnose v senatu Richardom Lugarjem, s katerim sta govorila o odnosih med ZDA in EU, Zahodnem Balkanu in Rusiji.

Zvečer je bila v čast našega predsednika vlade slavnostna večerja v knjižnici Riggs na jezuitski Univerzi Georgetown, ki spada med najuglednejše in najstarejše univerze v ZDA.

Z ameriške strani so se večerje udeležili general Peter Pace, Ana Palacio, Marc Grossman, Daniel Serwer, Donald Daniel, Christopher Joyner, Stewart McLaurin, Melinda Farris, Gary Loveman, Debbie Nelson, Mark Peckala, Thomas Robertson (ameriški veleposlanik v Sloveniji), Damon Wilson in senator George Voinovich.

Pri Bushevih pomočnikih

V torek zjutraj je bilo srečanje na ameriški gospodarski zbornici. Govorili so o krepitvi gospodarskega sodelovanja med državama in ugotovili, da bi to bilo lahko boljše.

Na srečanju so bili predstavniki podjetij, ki že vlagajo v Slovenijo ali pa še iščejo priložnosti, na primer Goodyear in Harrah's ter nekatera druga podjetja.

Potem se je slovenska vladna delegacija v glavni stavbi Kapitola srečala s senatorjem Tomom Harkinom, ki ima slovenske korenine (ur. AD: njegova že pokojna mati je bila priseljenka iz Slovenije v ZDA).

Sledili so pogovori s predsednikom predstavniškega doma kongresa Dennisom Hastertom in nekaterimi kongresniki.

O nevarnih bolezni Janeza Drnovška in Lojzeta Peterleta ...

Dr. Tine Velikonja: Se Drnovšek in Peterle igrata z življenjem?

Ur. AD: Članek, ki sledi, je izšel v Informativni prilogi Nove slovenske zaveze (NSZ) "Mi med seboj" št. 61 2006, v rubriki "Slovenija, naša država" (str. 5), in to izpod peresa znanega dr. Tineta Velikonja, ki je sam zdravnik, hkrati tudi podpredsednik NSZ. Članek je posredovan v celoti.

Paradoks je misel ali trditev, ki temelji na neskladu s splošno veljavnim. Paradoks ni torej, kadar pes ugrizne človeka, ampak človek psa. Paradoks tudi ni, če rakava bolezen svojega nosilca izstrada do smrti, pač pa, kadar bi bolnik zločesto raščo s postom spravil na kolena. Paradoks je redek kot voda v puščavi, človek zlepa ne bo ugriznil psa, še manj, da bi izstradal raka. Kaj takega tudi ne bo uspelo ne Drnovšku in ne Peterletu.

Drnovšek je bil pred leti operiran zaradi rakave bolezni na ledvici. Organ tehta pri odraslem 180 gramov, njegova ledvica s tumorjem in okolnim tkivom vred pa je kar 1160 gramov, torej dobro kilo. Šlo naj bi za posebno obliko ledvičnega raka, na hipernefrom. Zanj je značilno, da je v svojem poteku bolj miroljuben kot druge oblike raka, kljub temu pa svojega nosilca, če se ne zdravi, vseeno v nekaj letih spravi v grob. Ne враšča v druge organe, ampak jih samo odriva. Ima pa slabo lastnost, da si poišče prostor za svojo rast kar v ledvični veni in naprej v spodnji votli veni (v. cava inf.). Rakave celice, ki se krušijo s krhkoga tkiva, kri odplavlja naprej po telesu. Zvečine obtičijo v pljučnih kapilarah, kjer zrastejo v zasevke. Prav to se je zgodilo Drnovšku.

Peterle je bil pred nekaj leti na pregledu zaradi težav s prostato. Zdravnik je otiral sumljivo mesto in pod nadzorom enoanalnega ultrazvočnega aparata izpeljal številne punkcijske biopsije. Histološki izvid:
Adenocarcinoma invasivum. Preparat so poslali tudi v München, da ja ne bo dvoma, in tam so diagnozo potrdili. Takošnja operacija z zelo dobrimi izgledi za ozdravitev, če noče v Ljubljani, se bodo dogovorili s Slovenj Gradcem! Peterle ne bi bil Peterle, če ne bi razmišljal po svoje. Poseg je odklonil, pri tem pa zdravnikom samozavestno in prijazno razložil, da se bo zdravil po sam. Od njih je celo zahteval, naj mu napišejo mnenje, da operacija ni potrebna. Presenečeni nad njegovo filozofijo so bili vseeno toliko pri sebi, da so tako uslužno odklonili.

Nisem prerok, lahko pa mirno napovem, da Dr-novšek, če bo vztrajal pri svoji brezmesni dieti, leta 2007 ne bo več tlačil zemlje, za kar mi je iskreno žal, saj sem upal, da bo svoj mandat odslužil do konca, in prav tako ne Peterle leta 2010, če se ne bo pravočasno ulegel na operacijsko mizo in se od-povedal svojemu postu. Toliko je namreč vredna alternativna medicina, eno figo namreč. In nauk te zgodbe: Živemu človeku se lahko vse pripeti, ne sme pa se igrati z življenjem, tudi lastnim ne. Skratka, človeku ni treba biti neumen, če pa že je, naj to zadrži zase. ■

Svetokriški in še nekateri drugi.

Leta 1848 srečamo pri
Blažu Potočniku za me-sec avgust ime mlatnik in za njim še pri dr. G.
Pečjaku, a se to ime ni prijelo. Prav tako se niso prijela druga imena, ki so bila večinoma v navadi le v posameznih pokrajinah Slovenije: ose-mnik, poznoletnik, veli-komešnjak, prašnjek, go-spošnjik, toplan. V najstarejši ohranjeni slovenski praktiki iz 1. 1741 je za mesec avgust uporablje-

no ime veliki srpan, ki je v veljavi še danes.

Avgust gotovo najbolj zaznamuje praznik Mari-jinega vnebovzetja ali ve-liki šmaren (15.). V veči-ni dežel po svetu je to za katoličane zapovedan praznik. Z njim se začenja tudi čas šmarnih maš, ki trajajo od velikega do malega šmarna (Marijinega rojstva, 8. septembra).

Kot nekakšna osmina velikega šmarna je pra-znik Device Marije, Kral-jice nebes in zemlje. Ni čisto jasno, zakaj sta ta dva praznika ločena, saj Marijino poveličanje ob vnebovzetju pomeni tudi najvišjo počastitev, ki jo izražamo z zemeljskim izrazom "Kraljice".

Verjetno je vzrok v tem, da si človek ne more predstavljati, kako poteka življenje v večnosti, kjer ni ne časa ne prostora, pa si laže za-mišlja, da so tudi "tam gori" za pripravo na kro-nanje rabili nekaj časa.

S tem pa avgustova
Marijina praznovanja niso izčrpana. Znana je med nami Porciunkula, kar je domače ime za obletnico posvetitve cerkve Marije Angelske na ravnini pod Assisijem, kjer se je ob prvi kapelici sredi gozda naselil sv. Frančišek s svojimi brati in velja za zibelko frančiškanskega reda.

Porciunkula je naš način pisanja italijanskega izraza, ki pomeni majhen

Hastert se je zelo pohvalno izrazil o Sloveniji in jo označil za zvezdo.
Uvrstil jo je med po-membnejše evropske države. Naš premier je to potrdil s konkretnimi podatki.

Na Kapitolu se je slo-venska vladna delegacija sešla z vplivnim podpred-sednikom ZDA Dickom Cheneyjem. Govorili so o položaju na Zahodnem Balkanu in potrebi po bolj usklajeni politiki
med ZDA in EU. Glede Kosova je Cheney neuradno dejal, da je to, da bi Kosovo ostalo del Srbije, iluzija, vendar sami pri tem ne bodo za vsa-ko ceno vztrajali na neki rešitev.

Popoldne je imel pred-sednik vlade Janša na
Freedom Plaza, ki je na Aveniji Pensilvanija, tiskovno konferenco za slo-venske medije. Ob delovnem kosilu v hotelu so se z njim pogovarjali novinarji in uredniki uglednega ameriškega časopisa Washington Post.

Zadnja postaja uradnega obiska slovenskega premiera v ZDA je bila srečanje z državno sekre-tarko Condoleezzo Rice v State Departmentu. Ko-
maj smo novinarji in fotografi stopili v njeno pisarno, kjer je pozirala skupaj z Janšo, se nam je že zahvalila, kar je pomenilo, da je naš čas potekel. Lahko smo samo ugotovili, da so v Sloveniji nekajminutni fo-totermi pravo razkošje.

Janša in Riceova sta govorila predvsem o položaju v Bosni in na Kosovuh, kjer bo imela Slovenija prihodnje leto cel bataljon svoje vojske, ki bo skrbel za varnost v pokrajini.

Tako vladna delegacija
kot novinarji smo nato z dobrimi vtisi poleteli proti
"nebesom" na zemlji. ■

LEMONTSKI ODMEVI

(NADALJEVANJE s str. 15)

delež, majhno porcijo. Izraz prihaja od tega, ker so benediktinci, ki so bili lastniki vsega velikega ozemlja tam okoli, majhen delež, majhno porcijo, odstopili sv. Frančišku in prvim bratom.

Stara kapelica še danes obstaja in je pod kupolo ogromne bazilike sv. Marije Angelske, ki so jo sezidali v bistvu kot zaščito stare kapelice, in je postala cilj romanj, saj je tudi kraj smrti sv. Frančiška.

Za to kapelico je sv. Frančišek pri papežu izprosil popolni odpustek, kar je bilo za tiste čase redkost. Danes je mogoče ta popolni odpustek dobiti na dan 2. avgusta v vseh frančiškanskih in vseh župnijskih cerkvah pod običajnimi pogoji spoved, obhajilo, molitev Očenaša, Zdravamarije in Vere ter kake molitve po namenu sv. očeta. Pogoj pa je tudi, da človek ni navezan na noben greh.

Pridobiti je mogoče samo en odpustek, tega pa je mogoče nakloniti tudi rajnim. V Sloveniji so bili včasih za porciunkulo veliki shodi v frančiškanskih, kapucinskih in minoritskih cerkvah, ko so ljudje prihajali po odpustek iz bližnje in daljne okolice. Marsikje je bil to sopraznik, ko niso delali.

V avgustu je napovedanih za Lemont kar nekaj praznovanj. Sicer bo običajno romanje članov in članic KSKJ Illinois Federation izjemoma odpadlo (razlogi niso znani), bo pa 12. in 13. avgusta običajno romanje Oltarnih društev in Slomškovega društva iz Cleveland-a in okolice.

Na isto nedeljo - 13. avgusta - je tudi romanje Slovenskega kulturnega centra v Lemontu.

Glavna slovesnost bo pa v nedeljo, 27. avgusta, ko bo običajni Medeni piknik združen s slovesnostjo 80. obletnice kronanja lemontske podobe Marije Pomagaj, ki ga je opravil takratni ljubljanski škof Anton Bonaventura Jeglič v navzočnosti tedanjega provinciala p. Regalata Čebulja.

Kot kaže, bo praznovanje obletnice bolj skromno, saj ne bo ne škofa, ne provinciala. Za to priliko je v Lemont povabljen rektor brezjanske bazilike p. Silvin Kranjc.

Goduje ta mesec p. Bernard Karmanocky (20. avgusta), župnik v Johnstownu, Pa.

Umrli so v mesecu avgustu: p. Krištof Selak (10. avg. 1973); p. Inocenc Feryan (12. avg. 1985); p. Pelagij Majhenič (13. avg. 1994); p. Pij Petrič (14. avg. 1965); p. Kerubin Begelj (17. avg. 1964); p. Hieronim Sellak (25. avg. 1987); p. Hiacint Podgoršek (27. avg. 1954). Naj v miru počivajo!

Letošnji junij je potekal v znamenju binkoši in praznika sv. Rešnjega telesa in krvi, ki je bil letos združen z očetovskim dnevom. Ob telovski procesiji in maši 18. junija je bil naš gost črensovski župnik Ivan Kranjc, ki je spomnil na obisk svojega prednika Franca Tementa, gosta rajne Gizele Hozjan pred leti.

Imel je tudi zanimivo telovsko pridigo, vendar tako dolgo, da je pri mašnem blagoslovu gospod Bog dodal še svojega v obliki kratke plohe.

Pred koncem junija smo vam razposlali običajna pisma s srečkami za medeni piknik in se priporočamo za odkup. Še vedno je cena sreške $1, prosimo pa, da na kupone (manjši del), ki jih boste poslali, napišete svoje ime in natančen naslov. Vsako leto dobimo nekaj kuponov brez naslovov, potem pa išči in najdi dobitnika.
