“Zatišje” v vietnamskem vojskovanju

Koncem letošnjega junija je vojskovanje v Južnem Vietnamu nenadno začelo popuščati in nastopilo je “zatišje”. Število vojnih žrtev je na obeh straneh močno padlo, vietnamska vojna je stopila nekam v ozadje javnega zanimanja kot pred 16 leti korejska vojna, ki so jo zaradi tega poimenovali kar “pozabljena vojna”. Vojskovanje v Vietnamu ni pozabljeno, čeprav vidimo poročila o njem manjkrat na prvih straneh listov kot v preteklosti. Ne smemo pozabiti, da je tudi čas počitnic, ko se ljudje skušajo odtegniti vsakdanjim brigam in vsaj za kratek čas na nje pozabiti.

Vietnamska vojna je velika skrb predsednika Nixona in njegove vlade. Zavedajo se v Beli hiši predobro, da mora biti vojskovanje v Vietnamu omejeno, število vojnih žrtev močno zmanjšano, precejšen del čet umaknjen domov, če naj Nixon in njegova stranka uspeja pri kongresnih volitvah prihodnjega jesen. Nixon bi rad vojskovanje končal, toda za to sta potrebna dva. Rdečim se za enkrat še ne mudi preveč in še vedno upajo, da bodo dočakali konec ameriške potrpežljivosti. Tako je na bojiščih Vietnama zatišje, pri razgovorih v Parizu pa zastoj.

Ameriški vojaški strokovnjaki ne vidijo v “zatišju” na bojiščih Vietnama nobenega posebnega ozadja. Za nje je to običajen tok vojskovanja, ki ne more biti vedno v polnem zaletu. Med velikimi napori in obsežnimi nastopi na bojiščih so vedno daljši ali krajši premori, “zatišja”, ko čete počivajo, se krepe in pripravljajo na nove boje. Za vsak večji nastop je treba namreč zbrati zaloge streliva, hrane in drugih potrebščin. Za ameriške čete je to sorazmerno lahko, ker imajo na razpolago moderna prevozna sredstva.

Rdeči morajo večino vseh potrebščin spraviti do bojišč na hrbtih nosačev. V zadnjem letu so svojo oskrbo izboljšali v toliko, da vsaj del potrebščin in moštva vozijo do meje Laosa in od tam delno še dalje po Hočiminhovih potih, dokler je to pač mogoče. Orožje in druge vojne potrebščine za južni del bojišča, zlasti za področje Mekongove delte, prihaja zadnje čase v glavnem po morju v pristanišče Sihanoukville v Kambodži, od tam pa precej varno s tovornjaki dalje do meje Južnega Vietnama. Kambodžanske oblasti za to vedo in menda pri tem celo same pomagajo. Princ Sihanuk je pretekli mesec sklenil z rdečimi dogovor, ki omogoča tem mirno rabo Kambodže za oskrbo čet v Južnem Vietnamu. Sihanuku so za to rdeči obljubili, da se bodo ob koncu vojne umaknili iz Kambodže in da ne bodo tej delali nobenih sitnosti več.

Letošnje “zatišje” na bojiščih v Vietnamu ni nič novega, podobno zatišje je vladalo tam tudi lani vse do konca avgusta. Za letos napovedujejo, da bo “zatišje” trajalo še dalj, morda celo še več mesecev. Ameriški vojaški vodniki, ki so še do nedavnega napovedovali novo rdečo ofenzivo, sodijo zdaj, da do kaj takega ne bo prišlo, vsaj ne še dva do tri mesece. Nikjer niso namreč odkrili večjega zbiranja rdečega moštva in vojnih potrebščin.

Združene države hočejo vojskovanje v Vietnamu omejiti, kar se le da in kakor hitro je to mogoče. Ker ne verjamejo, da bi rdeči bili že pripravljeni na politično rešitev spora, skušajo osposobiti južne Vietnamce, da bodo oni prevzeli težo boja, iz katerega se naj ameriške čete postopno umikajo. To bo zmanjšalo ameriške vojne izgube in vplivalo pomirjevalno na ameriško javno mnenje in na razpoloženje volivcev. Žal “vietnamizacija” vojskovanja ne napreduje tako naglo, kot bi v Washingtonu radi.

ZDA opremljajo in vežbajo južnovietnamske oborožene sile po izdelanem načrtu, pa tem samim manjka potrebnihkušenj in dobrega vodstva, da bi mogle hitreje prevzemati na sebe breme vojskovanja. Vojaški strokovnjaki sodijo, da bo minilo dve leti ali celo več, predno bodo južnovietnamske sile sposobne prevzeti večji del vojskovanja in še to le ob močni podpori ameriških letalskih sil, topništva in oskrbe.

Tudi Severni Vietnam čuti težke izgube in ljudeh in sredstvih za vojskovanje v Južnem Vietnamu, tudi tam so začeli nekaj bolj upoštevati izgube v moštvu, ki so povprečno od pet do desetkrat večje od ameriških in južnovietnamskih. Tako je tudi Hanoi “zatišje” na bojiščih dobrodošlo. Končali ga bodo nemara šele, kadar bodo videli, da je to potrebno zaradi političnih ciljev v Parizu ali pa v — ZDA.

Washington je med tem začel v vojskovanju omejevati obsežne nastope, s katerimi naj “bi nasprotnika odkrili in uničili”, povečal pa je število manjših vojaških operacij. V boj ne hodijo več cele divizije, niti ne polki in bataljoni. Največkrat so operacije omejene na nastope čet ali celo le vodov in desetin. Gre pretežno za patrole razne velikosti, ki stikajo za sovražnikom, ko varujejo okolič ameriških vojaških taborišč in oprišč. Te patrole morajo precej daleč, če hočejo, da so oporišča varna pred obstreljevanjem z raketami in minami.

Pri nadziranju ozemlja sodelujejo v veliki meri letala, zlasti helikopterji, ki često prenašajo patrole na določena mesta, kjer obstoji sum, da bi se utegnil skrivati sovražnik. Ko tega najdejo, obveste takoj o tem poveljstvo, ki pošlje nato naden letala ali pa pomoč, če izgleda, da je ta potrebna za uspešen nastop. Ameriške vojaške sile vrše še vedno močan pritisk na sovražnika, četudi hočejo omejiti število človeških žrtev, kar se le da. Prevelika omejitev ameriških in ostalih zaveznikov vojaških operacij bi dala rdečim možnost krepitve in izboljšanja njihovega položaja, utrjevanje njihovega vpliva med prebivalstvom. Prav za tega pa boj gre. Na čigar strani bo prebivalstvo, tisti bo končno prevladal. Rdeči se zavedajo, da prebivalstvo ni z njimi v taki meri, da bi jim svobodno ljudsko glasovanje prineslo zmago, zato volitve, ki jih jim je ponudil Van Thieu, odklanjajo. Nepristranski proučevalci razmer v Južnem Vietnamu trdijo, da bi pri svobodnih volitvah pod mednarodnim nadzorom dobili rdeči kvečjemu “okoli 20%” glasov.

Vojskovanju v Vietnamu vsaj za enkrat še ni videti konca, morda imajo sen. Mansfield, bivši državni tajnik Rusk in poslanik H.-C. Lodge prav, ko ugibljejo, če le ne bo vojskovanje prestalo kar samo od sebe brez vsakega dogovora. Tak dogovor bi rdečim vezal roke, končanje vojskovanja brez njega bi jim pa dajalo možnost “oživitve” vojskovanja, kadar bi bilo to za nje ugodno.

BESEDA IZ NARODA

Plavalne in skakalne tekme na Slov. pristavi

CLEVELAND, O. — V nedeljo, 17. avgusta, bodo ob 3. uri popoldne v kopališču na Slovenski pristavi plavalne in skakalne tekme za vse, ki želijo sodelovati in ki se bodo prijavili do sobote, 16. avgusta, pri g. Cirilu Selanu, vodji teh tekmovanj, ali pri “life guardu” g. M. Novaku. Dekleta bodo skakala z 1-metrške, fantje pa s 3-metrške skakalnice.

V plavanju bodo dekleta tekmovala med seboj in prav tako fantje v naslednjih vrstah plavanja: 1. prsno plavanje, 2. hrbtno plavanje, 3. crawl. Zmagovalci v vsaki panogi bodo dobili nagrade in sicer prvi zlato, drugi srebrno in tretji bronasto medaljo. Zato lepo vabimo vse plavalke in plavalce, da se pravočasno prijavijo za to svojevrstno in lepo tekmovanje na Slovenski pristavi.

Podrobnejše informacije lahko dobite pri vodji teh tekmovanj g. Cirilu Selanu, ki z velikim uspehom vodi poslednja dva tedna reševalni tečaj na Slovenski pristavi in sicer za mlajše od 12. do 14 let in za one nad 16. letom. Ta reševalni tečaj bo končan v soboto, 9. avgusta.

Kdo se želi izpopolniti v plavanju, naj pride v nedeljo, 10. avgusta, na Pristavo in se prijavi g. C. Selanu za “advance swimmer”.

Vsem, ki bodo z uspehom dovršili reševalni tečaj, kakor tudi vsem zmagovalcem tekmovanj, že vnaprej čestitamo. Vse prijatelje plavalnega športa vabimo, da se kot gledalci udeležijo te edinstvene prireditve!

Prošnja za pomoč cerkvi sv. Jožefa v Celju

KANSAS CITY, Kans. — G. Matija Čontala mi je poslal prošnjo, naj se obrnem do naših rojakov, naj se usmilijo cerkve sv. Jožefa. Rabi nove strehe, ker zamaka. Tudi oba zvonika rabi ta nove — bakrene. Bližnja cinkarna, iz katere uhaja plin, je uničila kape zvonikoma. Stroški bodo ogromni — 10 milijonov dolarjev.

Lepo prosim vse rojake, če bi se mogli kateri odzvati s kakim darilom. Sv. Jožef vam tega ne bo pozabil. Biti zapisan v knjigi prejemkov sv. Jožefa je stoprocentno varno poslovanje. Z obrestmi vam bo v vaši najvažnejši uri vse povrnil, ko boste najbolj rabili njegove pomoči. Saj je patron srečne smrti.

Stajerci, Savinčani, Celjani, prosim, ne prezrite te prošnje! Sv. Jožef in Slomšek ne bosta pozabila vaše dobrote. Saj je ravno Slomšek poklical lazarišče k Sv. Jožefu. 300-letna cerkev ne sme propasti! Rešite jo — rojaki v domovini ne zmorejo vsega sami.

Pisma v Jugoslaviji se rada “izgube”, pravijo. Če pošljete ček, glejte, da ga bo g. Čontala res prejel. Pošljite registrirano, prosim.

Najboljše je, če pošljete naravnost v Celje. Če pa želite, sem pa tudi jaz pripravljena poslati v vašem imenu.

Komu bodočnost dan zvoni...?

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Sinoči večer — 30. julija — mi je dal trenutek čudo vitega odkritja. Bilo je prav zares pravo odkritje. To lahko doživim samo, če se naključje poigra s teboj in ti odkrije stvarnosti, ki jih nisi predvideval, pa dejansko obstoje. Krištof Kolumb je po tej naključnosti odkril naš novi svet — Ameriko. Naši astronauti pred dvema tednoma, ko so šli na dolgo pot, niso bili igračke takšne naključnosti, ker niso šli odkrivat Lune, ampak le ugotavljat dejstva nekih točno domišljenih predvidevnosti. Jaz pa nisem sinoči ničesar drugega predvideval kot srečanje s svojim bratrancom, ko sem se iz Ridgewooda podal z avtobusom na njujorsko letališče Kennedy.

Dokajkrat sem že šel v takšnim in podobnim namenom na to letališče. Marsikoga sem že tam srečal. Sinoči naj bi srečal bratranca Pepeta, ki se je vračal iz Slovenije v Cleveland. Želel sem si, da mi kaj pove o svoji teti, moji materi.

Do New Yorka se je vračal z letalsko družbo KLM. Ko pridem na letališče, sem takoj ugotovil, da je večer, ko imajo letala nad našim mestom večje težave za pristajanje, kot pa so jih imeli vesoljci Apolla 11 za svoj “splesadavn”. Povedali so mi prvo zamudo, ki je bila skoraj enourna. Kakati bo tofjej treba. Gneča in prerivanje pa takšno, posebno na stopnišču iz prtiličja v prvo nadstropje, kjer je svetlobni razpored letalskih prihodov. Ena stran, ki ima premikajoče stopnišče, je bila mrtva. Nekaj v napravni ni bilo v redu in je običajna. Pomislite: V času v Ameriki, v New Yorku, ko človek leti na Luno s sanjami, da bi obvladal njo in še druga nebesna telesa — svetove!

Ura mi je govorila, da se bliža osmi zvečer. Svetlobni razpored pa se nikamor ne premakne, čeprav kaže tabela pristanke ob štirih, petih in tja do sedem in čez... Potem se noče nič več premakniti, ne za vrst prihoda, ne za naznačitev vrst pristanke. Nekaj časa mi je bilo prijetno v čakanju, potem pa sem postal človek trdnih zemeljskih tal in sem šel v prtiličje, čeprav je bila muka stopiti na tisto stopnišče stiskajoče se gneče. Sel sem k KLM. Uradnice so se vrtele okoli telefonskih aparatov, kot da so na vrtljaku na Rockawayju. Na vprašanja niso zadovoljivo odgovarjale. Če si povprašal za potnika, je vrgla na pult listo in besedo: Look by yourself.

Ljudje pa so se nabirali. Potniki, prihajajoči in odhajajoči. V tej gneči zagledam nekega uradnika te letalske družbe s prejemnim in oddajnim tranzistorjem v roki in ga vprašam: Zakaj ne spremene svetlobnega razporeda v zgornjem nadstropju, kjer čakamo. Pa mi reče: Zakaj ne greste s tem vprašanjem v nadzorni stolp. Sicer pa je trenutno stanje takšno, da se ne da točno na tej svetlobni deski beležiti trenutnih sprememb, ki nastajajo. — In tu sem odkril na preprost način, kakšen je danes razkol v človeku in v njegovi družbi in v njegovi družbeni organizaciji. V duhu sem gledal človeka v vesolju, kot mi ga je pokazala televizija pred dnevi, pred menoj pa je ta trenutek stal človek planeta v vesolju, ki ga imenujemo Zemlja in je moj in tvoj življenski prostor!

Sem na Zemlji! Zategadelj moram tudi tako zmešnjavo razumeti, zlasti takrat, ko jo doživljam. Pa si rečem: Tone, v tej gneči najdi v tem prtiličju prostor, kjer boš lahko obstal do trenutka, ko zagledaš bratranca, za katerega še ne veš, kdaj pride, čeprav pravijo, da je že v njujorskih višavah. In tako stojim in gledam v obraze neznancev. Drugi — vsaj večina njih — so v stalnem premikanju, te-kanju, nategavanju vratov in v projiciranju iskajočih pogledov sem in tja, gori in doli.

Nenadno se znajde stegajoč proti meni roko v pozdrav Slovenec Feliks Augustin. Včasih je živel v Ridgewoodu. Zdaj živi v Newburgu na severu države New York. Mislim, da je okoli 100 milj iz našega mesta. Pa mi poreče: “O — Tony, kaj pa ti tukaj?” “Na bratranca čakam, ki se vrača od doma v Cleveland.”

“In ti?” ga vprašam.

“Žena se mi vrača. Šla je na obisk. Jo čakam že od štirih. In uradnice pravijo, da je letalo pristalo že po peti uri in je še ni ven!”

In spet se je podal na pot pozvedovanja...

Jaz sem stal in stal naprej, kot da sem kip postal, ki pa vidi in sliši... Ob moji strani se je prostor razredčil za nekaj, pa se spet stisnil in napolnil. Glasovi pa postajajo domači... Bil sem pač živ kip in glasovi so kot elektromagnet, ki te pritegnejo, posebno, če so ti sorodni... Obrnem glavo v smer prihajajočih glasov. Stopim nekaj korakov do tega novega vožla ljudi in vprašam:

“Zar ste Hrvati?”

“Ima nas Hrvata, najviše Makedonaca i pa nešto i Slovenaca,” mi odgovori eden.

“A ko od vas je Slovenec, sprašujem naprej.”

“Ja sam Slovenec,” mi odgovori isti, kot mi je odgovarjal na prva vprašanja.

“A ti si Slovenec?” ga dobrohotno pogledam. Razgovor se je začel. Povedal mi je spet, da v skupini so v glavnem Makedonci in par Hrvatov, on pa edini Slovenec. Prišli so iz Rima. Vsi so že dalj časa živeli v Italiji. Slovenec, ki ga niti nisem vprašal pa imenu, čeprav sem mu svoje povedal, mi je pripovedoval, da je iz Dobrepolja pri Kočevju, da je pobegnul, da je delal v hotelu, katerega lastnik je Levstik, dokler ni odšel v Ameriko. Vem, da je že v Clevelandu in bo morda bral tudi opis tega srečanja s Slovincema v veliki vžjujorskega letališča Kennedy. Feliks se je namreč vrnil na moje čakajoče mesto. Med tem je dejal, da je ugotovil, da je žena na drugem letalu — kot pa so mu poprej govorili. Pa recite, da tudi v naši deželi ni zmešnjav.

Feliks je spet odšel, jaz sem s Dolenjem še govoril. Malo bolj sem se mu razkril. Večkrat sem se zamislil v čudovito razkritje, ki mi je ves to večer zaposljevalo misel razmišljanja ob dejstvu:

Moj bratranec-begunec se vrača z obiska od doma. Vrača se Feliksova žena. Ta večer so se vrnila še mnogi, ki so zdaj doma v Clevelandu in Chicagu, pa še drugod. Pred leti so bežali iz domovine, ker jo je zagrabil prijem nasilja, ki je prinašal nesvobodnost človekovemu duhu, odločanju, delu in udejstvovanju. Mnogi so šli, ker je bil preveč grozen pogled v dneve, ko je bratska kri okrvljevala brata. Leto ji minevalo za letom. Bolečine so pojenjevale. Rane so se menda za mnoge zacelile... Življenje je prešlo v svoja utripa-nja in želje. Potovati, potovati. In zakaj ne tja, kjer so “še domači, kjer smo bili mladi, in magari tja, kjer smo prečesto jokali nad krivicami in gorjem, ki je skorajda prekrilo zemljo, ki ji pravimo domovina.”

Tu pred menoj pa stoji skupina mladih Hrvatov, Macedoncev in en Slovenec je med njimi, ki menda žaluje zaradi dveh od komunistov pobitih bratov. Ne vem za okoliščine poboja. Vendar moje misli so šle k tistim, ki sem jih poznal, katerim je bila jugoslovanska zastava simbol, čeprav so bili Slovenci. Bili so moji prijatelji, tovariši v letih študija in bratje po krščanski in sokolski miselnosti. Padli so, ker so hoteli pravo svobodo.

In ti, ki stojiš zdaj tu, ali jih iz

Važnost solate za človeški organizem

Poleti, ob hudi vročini se nam izmed vseh jedi najbolj priče solata. Vsak dan je na mizi, včasih celo dvakrat. Pozneje, v jeseni in pozimi pa prihaja na mizo že bolj poredko, ker zelene solate ni več toliko na razpolago, na drugo zelenjad, ki nam tudi daje dobro solato, pa pozabimo.

Vedno bi se morali zavedati, da je vsaka solata tako važno živilo, da jo moramo uživati redno tudi jeseni in pozimi. Solata iz surove zelenjade ima v sebi mnogo surove staničnine. Ta se ne prebavi popolnoma, ampak kot nekako dražilo pospešuje prebavljanje in skrbi tako za redno odvajanje. Olje, s katerim solato zabelimo, znatno poveča njeno redilnost, kis ali citronov sok, pa ima to dobro lastnost, da pospešuje prebavljanje beljakovine. Če prinesemo solato na mizo z mesnimi ali jajčnimi jedmi, to ni samo navada. Ta živila imajo namreč v sebi obilo beljakovine in jih laže prebavimo, če jih zaužijemo skupno s solato. Jajca v kakršnikoli obliki, ki bi jih sicer težko prebavili, nam ne delajo težav, če uživamo poleg njih solato.

Zelo važna sestavina solate so redilne soli, ki so neobhodno potrebne našemu organizmu, ako hočemo ostati zdravi. Med temi je v zeleni solati precej železa in sicer se nahaja v listnem zelenju (klorofilu).

Ker je v solati dosti vode, ima lastnost, da hladi in osvežuje, zato se nam še posebno priče v vročem poletnem času. Voda v solati pa ni navadna voda, ampak ima v sebi nakopičenih obilo omenjenih dragocenih rudninskih snovi ter je brez bakterij.

Glede redilnosti solate sicer ne smatramo kot samostojno jed; zato je pa toliko bolj važen dodatek drugi, redilnejši hrani. Zelo zdravo je tudi, če jo uživamo k težjim močnatim jedem, kakor so cmoki, štruklji itd.

Ko nam poidejo zelene solatne vrste, posezimo takoj po drugi ravno tako izvrstni solati. Tu je na prvem mestu zelje in sicer sveže in kislo. Solata iz svežega zelja je ena najboljših solat, ki ima tudi precejšnjo vrednost. Da ni pretrda, jo malo potolčemo in napravimo bolj zgodaj; nikoli pa je ne smemo popariti. Naravnost zdravilna pa je solata iz surovega kislega zelja in to posebno zaradi mlečnokislinskih bakterij, obilih rudninskih soli in vitaminov.

Malo narahljamo kislo zelje z zelcnico vred zabelimo z oljem, sesekljano čebulo ter ji pridemo še par stlačenih brinjevih jagod, pa imamo prvovrstno solato po okusnosti in zdravilnosti. Dobro solato pa nam da tudi korenček in zelena, ki ju lahko uživamo vso zimo, dokler ne pričakamo motovilca, ki je najvažnejša pomladanska solata. Za izpremembo si napravimo lahko tudi solato iz rdečega zelja, pora in čebule. Sedaj pa pridno jejmo paradiznike, ki nam dajejo le krajšo dobo okusno in osvežujočo solato.

KOMU BODOČNOST DAN ZVONI...?

Jaz sem čakal svojega brat-

Odločil sem se, da grem v paja sprejel kot begunca v njujor-škem pristanišču in ga potem vodil po mestu. Jaz včasih Sokol, on pa Stražar in zvesti učenec pok. dr. L. Erlicha.

"Hej, Lujó!" mu zakličem,
"sem bral tvoje pozdrave v AD, ko si šel h komunistom na o-bisk." S tem se ga hotel samo malo počestitati po spominu.

"O, ti Tone, pozdravljen!" moleč mi svojo roko, "Slovenec sem pozdravil, svojo domovino Slovenijo sem obiskal..."

"Bejž no, bejž, komuniste si šel pozdravljati!" sem mu s sme-hom še malce ponagajal, ko se je on s hitrimi koraki oddalje-val od mene...

Bila je že 11. in bratranca še ni bilo. 8 minut pozneje se je prikazal na začetku hodnika.
Pozdrav. Poljub.

"Si videl mojo mater?"

"Sem!"

"Kako izgleda?"

"Bojle kot pred štirimi leti.
Bolj je fejš!"

"Saj sem ji že nekajkrat pisal, da je Plevnikova."

"Tvoj sin Janko je včeraj že odpotoval v San Francisco," sem mu še hitro povedal in mu v žep stisnil Jankovo pismo, ki sem ga prejel v ponedeljek. Janko mora namreč iti v Vietnam

za eno leto kot vojak-obveznik.

Vozeč se domov sem premišljeval, kateri plati bo zgodovina zazvonila lepši dan? V to pre-mišljanje, ko sem tehtal obe plati, so mi vpadali odmevi iz tistega dolgega hodnika na letališču: "Slovenec sem pozdravil..."

Svojo domovino sem obiskal...

Zato kamna ne mečimo več drug drugemu. Ena je svoboda!
In ena je domovina.

Župančič ji je klical: Ne beži... ostani pri meni... tesno, tesno me okleni...

Cankar ji je vzdihnil: O, do-movina, ti si kakor zdravje...

Mi vsi iskreno želimo in s čis-tim srcem kličemo: "Tisti, vsi
— kjerkoli in kadarkoli ste zo-per njo se pregrešili in bratsko kri ji dali za njene madeže — spokorite se, skesajte se vsi javno in vsi skupaj izmijte ji te krvave madeže, da bo njena podoba spet lepa in čista in da o-pran gre narod v nov dan sre-nejši bodočnosti naproti..."

Rdeči "vdor" v Cam
Ranh treba razčistiti

CLEVELAND, O. — Admini-stracija, zagovorniki in nasprotniki vojskovanja v Vietnamu nas vsak dan zasipajo z morjem besed, izjav, napovedi, sumni-čenj, kritik in pohval. Redki so, tisti, ki zvečer vedo, kaj se je v Vietnamu, podnevi v resnici godilo.

Kar se v resnici godi, je pa
daleč od tega, kar pišejo, razlagajo, obetajo, zagovarjajo in kritizirajo. Žalostno je le to, da
o resničnih vojaških akcijah v
Vietnamu zveemo le poredkoma.
Tak pojav je bil vdor rdečih ko-mandosov v našo vojaško postojanko Cam Ranh, ki spada med naše največje in uživa sloves, da je najbolj utrjena in zavarovana. Mora že biti, saj jo je bivši predsednik Johnson obiskal kar dvakrat, l. 1966 in l. 1967. Vdor rdečih komandosov je bil izvr-šen ta teden in se je odvijal takole:

Najprvo so komunisti s 15 raketami skušali napraviti čim več škoda na vojaškem letališču v Cam Ranh zalivu. Manjka poročilo, koliko se jim je to posrečilo. Težko je dvomiti, da je vojaška uprava obrnila svojo po-zornost na letališče. Med tem so komandosi lepo razrezali del žične ograje okoli postojanke, poslali skozi ograjo svoje komandose in jih usmerili na vodni stolp vojaške bolnice. Zasedli so stolp in ga rabili kot komandno točko za napad. Komandosi so se potem spravili na posamezne zgradbe. Zgradb je pa veliko, saj se je 732 bolnikov na-hajalo v 21 zgradbah. Komando-si so zelo hitro opravili svoje delo; na tleh bolnice so se mudili le 10 minut. Ko so izvršili nalogo, so pognali v zrak vodni stolp in se umaknili — brez izgub.

Poročilo dokazuje, da celo vo-jaške postojanke kot je Cam Ranh, ni mogoče vedno popolnoma zavarovati pred presenečenji.

Lepo tovarišstvo!

MOSKVA, ZSSR. — Glavni
urednik časopisa "Yunost" Boris
N. Polevoy je označil svojega sodelavca Anatola V. Kuznetso-va, ki je pretekli meseca tekem svojega obiska v Veliki Britani-ji zaprosil za dovoljenje za na-selitev v Veliki Britaniji in to dobil, za "Judasa", ki je prevaril Sovjetsko zvezo.

A. V. Kuznetsov naj bi bil z zvižajo pripravil vodstvo časo-pisa do tega, da ga je poslalo v tujino. Doma naj bi bil zapustil neko žensko, ki je nosna, in ji je obljubil poroko.

A. V. Kuznetsov je eden najbolj znanih mladih ruskih pisateljev, precej dobro znan tudi na Zahodu. Ko se je odločil, da se ne vrne v ZSSR, je odklonil
vsak razgovor s predstavniki ZSSR, ki so to zahtevali, in javno obsodil potvorbo njegovih del v Sovjetski zvezi. Odločno je obsodil tudi lansko zasedbo ČSR po sovjetsko-satelitskih četah. Sovjetske oblasti je v izjavi zagotovil, da njegova žena in otroci o njegovih načrtih za beg niso nič vedeli in jih naj torej puste na miru.

Polet na Mars
ne bo nobena zabava
WASHINGTON, D.C. — Glavni upravitelj NASA dr. Paine je v nekem predavanju razlagal, kako si NASA zamišlja polet na Mars. Iz njegove razlage je razvidno, da bo polet trajal dve le-ti, samo kroženje okoli Marsa je pa predvideno na 80 dni. Potrebni raketi bodo sestavili v poseb-nem laboratoriju v vesolju. Poleta se bo udeležilo 6 astronavitov, preleteli bodo nad 50 milijonov milj.

Polet naj bi bil mogoče že leta 1980. Dr. Paine ni omenil, ali ima NASA že kaj prošenj za kandidate za polet. V odpravi bosta dve vesoljski vozili na a-tomski pogon. Če bo eno odpovedalo, se bodo astronauti preselili v drugo.

BELFAST, S. Ir. — V treh
dneh začetkom tedna je imela vlada tri izredne seje, vse po-svečene napetosti in deželi, ki jo povzroča spor med protestanti in katoličani. Na obeh straneh je tolikšno število skrajnežev, zlasti med mlajšim rodod, da računajo z resno nevarnostjo rastočih nemirov in izgredov, ki utegnejo preiti v pravo držav-ljansko vojno.

Vlada je napovedala uvedbo policijske ure in uporabo rednih britanskih čet, če ne bo mogla

POD SVOBODNIM SONCEM

Radovana in Iztoka zgrabi takisto živa reka in ju plavi po cestah in ulicah do pristanišča. Neštivilna množica se je natlačila k morju. Vzkliki "Polloi hronoi!" "To triumphe!" "Belizar!" Panem, circenses!" (Mnoga leta! Zmaga! Kruha in iger! so pretresali zrak. Na morju so se pojavile tri rdeče luči, signali Belizarjevega brodovja.

"Tuto gar cite tyhe eite tini arce gegone." (To se je zgodilo ali po usodi ali po čigar si bodi sposobnosti. Tako je vzkliknil Prokop, ko je završil povest o porazu in uničenju vandalskega kraljestva po Belizarju. Kakor pa je spremijala sreča slavnega vojskovodjo, tako je hodila korakoma s srečo bleda zavist, udomačena hčerka bizantinskega dvora. Ko sta primorala lakota in obup Gelimerja, kralja Vandalov, da je prosil Belizarja kruha, ker ga že davno ni videl, gobe, da bi si otrli objokane oči, citer, da bi opevali svojo bridko usodo, so se zbrali nekateri zavistni poveljniki in poslali hitro jadrnico v Bizanc do Justinijana. Pisali so mu tožbo zoper Belizarja, češ da hoče, prevzetan zbog zmage, postati samovladar, tiran v Afriki. Ni bilo tedaj človeka pod soncem, ki bi bil bolj dostopen ovadštvu kakor samogoltni Justinidejal je tvojo hišo požar in prav je imel, ker božja Modrost mora imeti lepši dom. Poplačaj mi trud ob tej uri!"

Zazoril se je dan, kladiva zidarjev so udarila na zidu nove cerkve.

In zažarelo je v glavi Upravde. "Ni res, ne verujem. Belizar je nedolžen! Samo preskušnjo naj prebije!"

Sedel je, vzela pergament in napisal:

"Ker si ukrotil velikega sovražnika, ti daje tvoje gospodar in car na voljo, da ostaneš v Afriki in odpošlješ v Bizanc Gelimerja in ujetnike, ali pa se vrni sam in pridri z njimi vred. Obsije te milost despotova!"

Se isti dan je odplula ladja in na njej Salomon, poslanec, s carskim pismom.

Medtem je Belizar po drugih ovaduhih že zvedel za tožbo. Brez odloga je obremenil vse ladje z neizmernimi zakladi, jih napolnil z ujetniki Vandalov, pustil v Kartagini posadko Herulov in se pripravil na pot v Bizanc. Hitel je, da bi se opravičil pred cesarjem in se znošil nad krivimi tožniki.

Ko je Salomon dospel, je brodoge že čakalo na odhod in najhitrejša jadrnica je nesla v Bizanc poročilo, da se vrača zmagovalni vojskovodja.

Justinijan je spoznal, da je rodila tožbo zavist, zato je sklenil napraviti triumf v mestu, kakor so ga slavili samo rimski cesarji po zmagah nad barbari. Prekositi je hotel Tita in Trajana.

Odprle so se cesarske blagajne in sipale zlato in srebro. Hipodrom je velel na novo okrasiti. Stebrišča in lože so se kar šibile pod težo preprog. Od severa in vzhoda so gonili drobnico v nepreglednih čredah. Sli so hoteli iz mesta in oznanjali v dežel praznovanje po zmagi. Ljudstvo se je gnetlo in vrelo od vseh vetrov proti Bizancu. Kmetje so pustili plug na njivi, rokodelci so vrgli orodje iz rok. Glas despot je velel vsem v mesto. Obetale so se jim gostije, kakršnih še nihče ni doživel. In ker so na zimo barbari od vseh krajev in končev šli za klicem "panem et circenses", je bil Bizanc v januarju tistega leta nabit in natlačen ljudstev vesoljne zemlje.

se je vadilo, vse urilo. Kapadokijski in arabski konji so se plačevali s kupi zlata. Na vežbališču je vrelo od zore do mraka, vse je stavilo, berači in milijonarji, kdo zmaga, zadruga zelenih ali višnjevih dirkačev.

In sredi tega nestrpnega čakanja so se pojavile pred Bizancem v drugi noči meseca februarja tri rdeče luči na morju, Belizarjevo brodovje.

Bogati Epafrodit, trgovec z dušo in telesom, je porabil priliko, da bi se prikupil Teodoru in po njej seveda Justinijanu. Zakaj prebrisani Grk je vedel, da ga utegne en sam trenutek, ko bi se pokazal premalo navdušenega hlapca mogočnemu despotu, zaplesti v pravdo zaradi razžaljenja veličanstva. In te pravde so se vse in vselej končavale s tem, da je obtoženi izginil v globoki ječi, njegovo premoženje pa je pogoltnila nenasitna carska blagajna.

Zato je naročil Melhioru, naj kupi najboljše konje. Po vseh sejnih je vohal oskrbnik in ogledal vse dirkače zelenih; slednjič je zasledil na vežbališču štiri arabske žrebece, ki so utegnili po splošni sodbi zmagati. Kupil jih je in plačal zanje zaboj zlata. Nato jih je podaril Teodoru, češ naj jih spusti v tekmo pri višnjevih, ki so bili njena stranka. Teodora mu je poslala v zahvalo v srebrni pušici svilen trak, s katerim je imela spete lase v kopeli.

Epafrodit je vprašal tudi Radovana, ali se razume njegov sin Iztok na lok. Ko je Radovan pri-

Prišel je dan triumfa.

Osrednja cesta se je prebudila v rano jutro okrašena kakor indijska nevesta bogatega dvora. Vso noč so se gibale roke delavcev in sužnjev. Vsi velikaši, ki so se poganjali za ugled na dvoru, so trosili s periščem denar, da bi bila pročelja njih hiš ob cesti zadosti sijajno ozaljšana. Pomladni hlad je dihljal z vlažnimi vetrovi od morja. Kapljice tanke rose so se obesile na vence in nanizale nanje milijone biserov. Zdelo se je, da sta tudi morje in jutro pokorna despotu. Zadehtele so mirte in lovor, rožmarin in rože so pokrile vse ceste in vse stene. Z zidov je visel z močnimi dišavami napojen škrlat, v živih barvah so vihrale drage tkanine po zraku. Venci so se v globokih lokih spenjali od hiše do hiše, nad njimi so trepetale zlate tančice, kakor bi razpenjale meglice večernega sonca peruti nad cesto. Iz za vseh oken so se svetili jasni obrazi najlepših bizantinskih krasotic. V njih laseh, na belih vratovih, na svili in bagru so počivali milijoni, vkovani v zlate diademe, bleščeče nimbe, v koralde in zapestnice. In s streh je odsevalo v živo pisanih barvah oblajeno služabnikov. Vsak gospodar jih je danes praznje oblekel; tudi ti so morali z vzornimi tesli, s pisano drago obleko klicati gospodarju v čast slavo carskemu triumfu.

In tam doli pri morju si je nadel v ječi Pentapirgu zadnjič škrlat krog pleč in krono na glavo kralj Vandalov, Gelimer. Na njegovem licu brezupna vdanost, ne jok ne smeh, ubit njegov ponos, ubita duša. Nič jeze, nič strahu, nič žalosti, samo ustnice so se trudno premikale in venomer izgovarjale: Vanitas vanitatum — vse je sama ničemurnost!

Marshmallow Cereal Crunchies

If you prefer sweets for the youngsters that are foods as well as confections, try these Marshmallow Cereal Crunchies. They would be fun things for the children to do while the grown-ups are barbecuing in the yard.

Finely broken shredded wheat biscuits form the interesting shaggy coating for marshmallows dipped in melted chocolate and butterscotch bits. Besides making good nutritional contributions, breakfast cereals are handy recipe ingredients. Try them and see! Use a small chafing dish or water jacketed fondue pot for the sauce. And double or triple the recipe as your crowd requires.

Marshmallow Cereal Crunchies
½ cup semi-sweet or milk chocolate bits
½ cup butterscotch bits
1 tablespoon shortening
30 large marshmallows
2 to 2½ cups finely broken shredded wheat biscuits (oblong or bite size)

Combine first 3 ingredients in small heavy saucepan. Place over very low heat and allow to melt; stir until smooth. Spear each marshmallow with a long bamboo skewer or fondue fork and swirl it in chocolate mixture until bottom and sides are evenly coated with mixture. Roll in crushed cereal; press additional crushed cereal onto marshmallow, if needed. Remove from skewer or fondue fork and cool on buttered baking sheet or waxed paper.
Yield: 30 crunchies.

Pollen Count Starts On August 15

Mr. Bernard, Acting Director of the Cleveland Health Museum, said Dr. Theodore J. Castele of Lutheran Hospital will once again this year provide pollen count reports starting August 15 to Sept. 30th. These samples have been taken in the past at various locations throughout the Greater Cleveland area. Dr. Castele's research has indicated that there was little variation among the four sampling stations on a day to day basis.

THIS PROGRAM involves four lab technicians and Dr. Castele and is taken twice daily with analysis and counting at Lutheran Hospital labs. Reports of the count are made available free to the press, radio and TV stations by the Cleveland Health Museum upon request.

It has been pointed out by prominent allergists in this area that pollen counts of this nature, although part of a national survey, have little association with allergy symptoms displayed at this time of year. In some cases this may lead to confusion of the hypersensitive person.

It has been pointed out that many factors combine with pollen to produce the individual's discomfort. People are reminded not to use the count as a basis of self-diagnosis but rather to consult competent allergists for specific sensitivity testing and diagnosis. Only in this way can the causative agent be identified and proper medical treatment initiated.

BOOK REVIEW

Seven Keys To Hell by Bogomil Dubrovnik, Vantage Press, New York (789 pp.).

This voluminous novel concerns the political debates existent in the United States beginning slightly before World War II, concentrating during the war period, and continuing into the present. The politics argued were not so much of the United States policies, but mainly of the situations in Yugoslavia.

One group wanted Yugoslavia to be an independent state. Another body wanted Serbia to be separate from Croatia and Slovenia. Some desired Croatia to be the capital state. Others thought Yugoslavia should be run by the monarchs.

The author states near the beginning of his work that when two Yugoslavians meet, the first thing they do is form a debating society.

American Home Salutes Par-Fi Club

While many young people get a lot of publicity by rioting and protesting and generally being dissatisfied with conditions the older generation is giving them, one particular group is going about the business of helping society and trying to mold a better world, and making life a little more pleasant for those who are in need of cheering. This group is not grabbing headlines, but they should. They are a modest bunch of young men and women just doing their share for the benefit of others. This group is the Young Adults Club of St. Vitus Parish (61st and Glass Ave.) who call themselves the Par-Fi.

Besides holding benefit dances and car washes, it has been brought to the attention of this newspaper that the Par-Fi Club members have donated their precious free time for the last few Saturdays to scrape, paint, and trim the house of a pensioner who is unable to do this work himself.

We congratulate these future rulers of our country on a job well done and salute your untiring efforts and wish all of you much success in your future endeavors!

WDYOT RTV

You've seen buttons and bumper stickers that say WDYOT RTV and you're probably wondering what it means, a product slogan?, a new radio station? No, it's just a reminder to register to vote. It means, "Wanna do your own thing? Register to vote!"

There are a good many reasons for wanting to vote. 1) Decisions made at the polls will affect you and your family personally. 2) Decisions made in our representative republic are made by a majority of the "actual" voters. 3) Voting is a responsibility as well as a right. 4) Voter apathy often facilitates unqualified and corrupt leadership. 5) Failure to do so enables others to make decisions for you and your family.

You are qualified to vote: 1) If you are a citizen of the United States. 2) If you are at least 21 years of age or will be on the day of the general election on Nov. 4. 3) If you have lived in Ohio for one year. 4) If you have lived in Cuyahoga County for 40 days. 5) If you have lived in your voting precinct for 40 days, and most importantly, 6) IF YOU ARE REGISTERED.

If you are not sure of your voter status, check with the Board of Elections, 623 St. Clair Ave., 771-4250. If you are not registered, be sure to do so before the August 20 deadline.

THE BOARD OF ELECTIONS is open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays and from 8 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturdays.

For further information about the Voter Registration Campaign, call 861-1499 or contact Sylvia Debevec, 361-5549.

All these services are FREE to the victims of Muscular Dystrophy. Also, a comprehensive research program at Cleveland Metropolitan General Hospital is being supported by Muscular Dystrophy Associations.

Yugoslavian Politics Argued in the United States

Then he carries out that theme. He depicts each view of thought through fictional characters voicing their opinions. Each of the previously mentioned political viewpoints has its own club or society. Each tries to convince the other groups that their political analysis is correct or most logical.

THE HERO of the story is a lofty idealist Nick Stanko. We meet him as a Croatian university student who almost flunks his first college English course. But he perseveres and eventually becomes the master of the English language. He is such a proficient writer that his literary talents come into demand. Each political group wants to hire his writing services to publicize their activities in the nationality newspapers. Each political group is introduced and explained to a young man who tries at first to remain neutral and only accomplish his writing responsibilities.

He finds out men are willing to die, and others willing to commit physical extinction to achieve their ends. Some will switch sides, just to remain political leaders who only live to see their picture in the nationality newspapers, or be applauded at meetings, or sit at the speakers table at social functions.

Nick Stanko eventually finds he cannot stand impartially by and becomes personally involved with the political organizations and their people.

Anyone harboring any Yugoslavian governmental ideologies in any form will find his viewpoint represented in this mammoth novel. The book will undoubtedly heap more firewood on present political debates, or at least start new ones.

LEARNING THE LESSON OF KINGS

More than 700 years ago that basic charter of liberty, the Magna Carta, was forced upon a tyrannical King by his rebellious subjects. The Magna Carta has been described as "the starting point in the constitutional history of the English race." It has also been termed "the nearest approach to an irrevocable 'fundamental statute' that England has ever had." This document of 700 years ago laid the foundation of government by law that in principle was ultimately incorporated in our own U.S. Constitution and Bill of Rights.

The deathless principle of government by law is as valid today as it was 700 or more years ago. Although the British Parliament, according to late reports, is considering legislation to repeal certain clauses of the Magna Carta, the ancient charter's most important legacy remains intact. It provides that no free man should be seized or imprisoned, or stripped of his rights or possessions, or outlawed or exiled, or deprived of his standing in any other way, except by the lawful judgment of his equals or by the law of the land.

Many of us may have to learn again what the English Kings learned at Runnymede seven centuries ago. The enduring force of law is the basis of civilization and freedom.

HAWK RISKS FINE FOR DOING GOOD DEED

A fine may be in store for irrepressible Ken Harrelson of the Indians, who went into the stands during a 28-minute rain delay in the first game of a double-header against the Tigers July 20. Shake Up A Frosty Party

Make a party for the sandbox set in just a shake... with a frosted shake. Serve "as is" or fancy up in various shapes. For the beverages, put out icy-cold cans of the frothy, vitamin-rich shakes. The quintet of flavors — vanilla, strawberry, chocolate, chocolate fudge and coffee — comes in pull-tab cans. Just pop and pour.

If the mother of the house has just a bit more time, she might adventure with these two simple suggestions from the Borden Kitchen for freezing and shaping the shakes. One's an idea for a snowman or other favorite cookie shapes; the second is a tri-color pop from a cup. Here's the how-to-do:

SHAKY, THE FROSTY SNOWMAN: Pour three cans of frosted shake (any flavor) into a jelly roll pan lined with waxed paper. Freeze until very firm; then turn onto a chilled cookie sheet. With a cookie cutter quickly cut out shapes; then decorate with chocolate chips or shot, coconut or raisins to make gingerbread men or snowmen. Return to freezer. To serve, transfer from cookie sheet to plate with a pancake turner.

TRICOLOR POP (makes six): You'll need three different flavored cans of frosted shake — chocolate, vanilla and strawberry are the most colorful — six wooden skewers and six 5-ounce paper cups.

Fill one-third of each cup with a layer of chocolate. Freeze just firm enough to hold a skewer. Insert skewers into this first layer, pour in vanilla shake to fill another third of the cup. Freeze until firm and pour in a layer of strawberry. Freeze until very firm. To serve, simply peel off the paper cup.

Salamis

By Nancy Duckworth

Drying meat in the form of sausage is one of the oldest and tastiest ways man has used to preserve his food.

As far back as the pre-Christian era, writers were promoting dry sausage — indicating that cooks for centuries have realized the menu possibilities of this meat product.

Modern cooks too, can take advantage of these fine products if they know what the label means on the sausage they buy.

All dry sausage is ready-to-serve, but differs from other ready-to-serve sausage in that the meat is not cooked. Instead, it undergoes a long process of air drying. This drying process, together with the relatively high salt concentration in dry sausage enables it to be kept indefinitely under refrigeration.

Dry sausage adds pep and sparkle to a variety of dishes, and is high in nutritive value, too. It contains the same amount of vital proteins, vitamins and minerals as the fresh meat from which it is made.

Because of its rich flavor and firm texture, dry sausage should be served thinly sliced. Use it to top pizza or as an addition to spaghetti or other dishes and casseroles. And it's a natural for sandwiches and antipasto, too.

Small cubes of dry sausage add zest to scrambled or creamed eggs, macaroni and cheese, scalloped potatoes, potato salad and many creamed vegetables.

Or, use slivers of it in tossed green salads. The possibilities for hors d'oeuvres and tidbits are almost endless.

Many shoppers, however, are bewildered by such foreign names as Arles, Milano, Sopressata, Landjaeger, etc., which prevents them from discovering the wonderful world of flavor contained in these dry sausage products. Join those in the know — start by reading the sausage labels.

First, look for the mark of Federal meat inspection. It is your assurance from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service that the sausage you buy is safe to eat, was processed under sanitary conditions, and is truthfully labeled.

This Federal inspection mark must be on all meat products manufactured in plants which sell any portion of their products across State lines.

Many dry sausage products are imported, and thus do not carry a Federal inspection mark. Foreign packing plants which produce sausage for export must be approved by C&MS for sanitary facilities and procedures.

Even the sausage formulas, labels and preparation techniques are subject to review and approval by C&MS officials.

Imported sausage also must pass certain physical and laboratory tests at the time of importation. These are just some of the steps taken by C&MS to protect the American consumer from unsafe and misrepresented food products.

Dry sausage products may be classified into two general types — dry (hard) and semi-dry (soft). The two most popular varieties are salamis and cervellats, both of which may be of either the dry or semi-dry class.

Salamis are probably the most widely used variety of dry sausage in America. Most of them originated in Europe, with the largest number coming from Italy.

The warm climate of Italy stimulated the development of salami. Preserved with an abundance of salt and spices, the sausage was thoroughly air dried and aged, generally without smoking. Treated in this way, salamis could be kept for long periods in a cool place.

Many communities gained fame for their own style of salami, using different combinations of meat, spices and casings. But, in general, Italian salamis are made of coarsely chopped, cured lean pork and some finely chopped, cured lean beef. They are frequently moistened with red wine or grape juice, and flavored with garlic and spices.

Italians from the southern part of Italy liked their salami heavily seasoned, especially with red pepper, while those from the northern part preferred a milder sausage.

Controlled curing, drying and aging processes have been developed in this country for manufacturing today's salamis.

The fresh meat is chopped and mixed with the curing ingredients and spices, stuffed into casings, and air dried at least 100 days. During this period, about 60 percent of the natural moisture is extracted, producing a highly concentrated meat product that keeps well.

The sausage also ages or slightly ferments during this drying period, giving it a distinctively tangy flavor. In fact, technically speaking, dry sausage is a "fermented" sausage.

Many of the salamis and other dry sausage products have characteristic wrappings of parchment paper, tinfoil, or tissue. Some are even tied with distinctive patterns of twine.

BC salami simply refers to a salami stuffed into beef casings.

Calabrese salami originated in southern Italy and is usually made entirely of pork seasoned with hot peppers. Easter nola is coarsely chopped and mildly seasoned pork containing black peppers and garlic.

A distinctive feature of Genoa salami is the cord looped around the length of the sausage and from end to end. It is usually made of pork, although it may contain some beef. The coarsely ground meat is lightly seasoned with garlic. It may be moistened with wine or grape juice, or aged in wine for about 120 days. It is not smoked, and often comes wrapped in parchment paper or cellophane, printed with the Italian colors — red, white and green.

Sopressata, another Italian salami, is lightly flavored with garlic and generally hotly seasoned with paprika and black or red peppers. It is smoked to varying degrees depending on regional tastes. The finished weight is from 1/2 to 3/4 pound per link.

Milano salami is similar to other Italian salamis except that the meat is finely cut. It is spiced with garlic and has a distinctive cording.

Alesandri and Alpino are both Italian-type salamis of American origin. Apennino salami is made of coarsely chopped pork and beef seasoned with garlic but not smoked.

Arles is a salami of French origin. It is similar to Milano although it's made of coarsely chopped meat and corded "criss-cross" style.

German and Hungarian salamis are less highly flavored but usually more heavily smoked than Italian salamis. German salami is made of beef and pork seasoned with garlic. It may be tied with loops of twine drawn tightly into the casing about every two inches to give a scalloped appearance.

Cooked salami is another classification of salamis that is often confused with the dry varieties. Cooked salamis are made and seasoned about the same way as dry salami. The fresh meat is permitted to cure for 48 hours, but then it is cooked and air dried only a short time or not at all.

They are much softer in texture than dry salamis and usually come in larger slices. Cooked salamis are preferred by many for sandwiches because they are less "chewy." Beer, cotto, and kosher salami are cooked salamis.

Beer salami is made of pork, beef and spices and sometimes undergoes a short period of air drying.

Cotto is a mildly flavored Italian salami containing whole peppercorns.

Kosher salami is an all-beef product made under complete Rabbinical supervision. Curing, seasoning, and smoking are otherwise similar to other salamis.

No matter how you choose to serve these tasty salamis, they fit right into the busy homemaker's schedule. But to make sure your family is getting the safest sausage — look for the mark of Federal inspection.

Remember, not all sausage is federally inspected — only that which is processed for distribution across State lines. So, look for the symbol of protection provided by the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Kids today are so disrespectful. My 8-year-old nephew was expelled from school. He said to his father: "I had a little trouble at school. Can you help me?"

"Don't worry," his understanding father replied. "Into each life some rain must fall; but, remember every cloud has a silver lining."

My nephew looked at me and said: "Talk about the generation gap! I ask for advice and he gives me a weather report."

New York (NAPS) — No wonder you're smart!

Your brain has ten billion nerve cells to record what you learn.

The information you pick up travels inside you, at speeds up to 300 miles per hour, over a network of nerve fibers 100,000 miles long.

There are more interconnections in your own nervous system than there are street corners in all the world.

In spite of all this, you and your children may still find some things very hard to learn. Why? The reason may surprise you. "One reason why many students don't learn as much as they might," says Norman Spector, noted educator, "is that they study too much."

By "study," Professor Spector means trying to commit hundreds of facts to memory. "A much better approach," he suggests, "is to grasp for the concepts — the foundation of facts."

To study efficiently, educational psychologists suggest heeding several rules. We'll explain them in terms of helping your child to learn, but many work just as well in helping yourself.

RULE #1: Make it fun to learn.

Encourage your child to collect pretty things — rocks, butterflies, or whatever — then ask if he'd like to learn more about what he's collecting from a book. For a birthday or Christmas gift, get a subscription to one of the children's magazines that teach while entertaining. Buy a dollar's worth of back issues of the "National Geographic" so a child can cut them up and make scrapbooks on a rainy day. Instead of going to the playground all the time, visit some nearby historic places, and tell the child what happened there years ago.

RULE #2: Help the child use his knowledge successfully.

Learning to write is all the more satisfying to a child if he can make labels out of adhesive tape, then paste them around his room. Let him write the grocery lists, put names in your address book, and make his greeting cards and invitations. Arithmetic is more fun if you encourage the child to figure out how much of his allowance he'll have if he spends 10c on candy, or how many weeks he must save half his allowance in order to buy a pair of skates. Geography is more of a treat if you keep a globe or an atlas near the TV set so a child can locate places shown on the news show.

RULE #3: Encourage success.

A child will be more happy with school, and eager to do schoolwork, if success — high grades or demonstrated knowledge — leads to praise from you. The reward of praise and approval is a much better motivator among children than long explanations of how important grades are for getting into college and making money.

RULE #4: Don't knock failure.

Haim Ginott, the famed child

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF LEARNING

psychologist, warns that it is vital not to compare a child unfavorably with another. Though on occasion it may stimulate a child to competition, in general the competition is unhealthy and the results negative. "At the same time," writes Ginott, "a child should not be threatened or nagged. Threats and nagging are common because they make one believe that something is being done about a situation. In reality, such admonitions are worse than useless. They only result in a charged atmosphere, an irritated parent and an angry child."

RULE #5: Don't knock the teacher or school or the subject. If you say, "Why did she teach you that?" the child probably won't be able to tell you, but he will have some doubts about his teacher's knowledge or ability. This makes it harder for the child to follow his teacher's directions. A better response, if you have such a question, is to go to the school and ask.

RULE #6: Set aside a time and place for homework. Not when a choice TV show is on, lest studying become associated with missing out. Not in the kitchen, or someplace else where people are likely to cause distractions. Do make sure that there's adequate lighting, and that there is one uncluttered place—a desk is best — where the student can have all his supplies at hand.

RULE #7: Don't make learning the name of the game. Game of the States teaches geography. Recall improves observation. Concentration requires players to pay close attention, and Foresight teaches spelling, but all these games and others do their jobs best if you make fun, not learning, the object of the game. Giving a child educational games is fine, but often urging him to play may have a negative effect.

RULE #8: Help with homework the right way. According to the National Education Association, "When your child has a homework assignment, his teacher doesn't want you to do it for him or even show him how to do it. You can lend a hand though. You can help him select topics for themes. You can help him get together the items he needs for science experiments. You can pronounce spelling words as he writes them. You can suggest ways in which his papers will present a neater, more attractive appearance."

RULE #9: Seeing that learning is in the cards. A library card is a must for a child, but if a parent is too big a bug on scolding, a child may hesitate to report a lost library card. To give extra help at home with math, book and stationery stores have Milton Bradley flash cards that are a big help. The instructions tell you what to do. Interestingly, the man after whom the flash cards are named was an educator who nearly went broke pioneering advanced educational aids 100 years ago (the gist of his idea: learning should be fun). But the company he founded went on to make millions and gain worldwide fame in both educational materials and games.

RULE #10: Remember that there's more than schoolwork to learn. All work and no play may make Jack not only a dull boy but also a neurotic. Some parents, feeling personal victory or defeat based on a child's grades, push too hard. Other parents schedule so many "learning situations" for a child — ballet Monday, acting school Wednesday, arts and crafts Friday, and piano practice daily — the youngster misses out on learning sports, social interaction, and the joy of discovering things on his own.

But if you give your child enough free time, a good place to work, the basic materials and — most important — the right attitudes, you will be helping to give him the very foundation of excellent education: a yearning for learning.

Elephants are traditionally supposed to be deathly afraid of mice, but this elephant never read any books and wasn't buying that story. So Jumbo looked down at a rodent that was trying to look fierce and said disdainfully, "I ain't afraid of you; you're just a puny little thing. How come you're so puny anyhow!" "I've been sick," said the mouse.
